HURLS 'LIE' CHARGE AT SOVIETS

Promised 'Whitewash' For Gems, Says WAC

Army Welshed on Agreement, Complains Nervous Mrs. Durant During Her Appearance on Witness Stand In Own Defense.

FRANKFURT—(INS)—WAC Capt. Mrs. Kathleen Nash Durant took the stand in her own defense today and charged that the U. S. Army had welched on a promise to "whitewash" her, if she returned the stolen Hesse crown jewels.

She said:

"They (army officials) told me that Secretary of War Patterson and Gen. Eisenhower were looking for me.

* * *

"They said that they didn't want any publicity in this case and that if they found the jewels, that was all they were interested in."

* * *

The prosecution made public for the first time the statement made by Capt. Durant, which implicated her husband, Col. Jack Durant, and two other soldiers in the jewel theft.

The others named are Major David Watson, of Burlingame, Calif., and ex-Sergeant Roy C. Carlton, of Kilgore, Texas.

* * *

According to the confession, which was made in Chicago last June 3, all concerned were to share equally in proceeds of the sale of the crown jewels.

* * *

The confession also revealed that Col. Durant previously tangled with the internal revenue department over the "illegal purchase" of other jewels.

In her confession, Capt. Durant sought to protect Sgt. Carlton. She said:

"Sgt. Carlton is implicated but is the least responsible for the entire affair."

Dressed in a GI field jacket, without insignia, Mrs. Durant nervously twisted her hands and gripped the edges of her chair as she answered in a low voice the questions asked by her counsel.

* * *

She denied vehemently that she had been warned and informed about the 24th article of war before signing a statement of guilt.

* * *

She said, tensely:

"I would have signed anything that day to get out of there, away from those people.

"I signed the statement after many promises had been made to me.

* * *

"They told me that the war department was interested only in finding the jewels and that if I signed, I'd get out of custody that much quicker and be back where I started from, and allowed to go free."

* * *

She admitted signing the statement but when the prosecution asked if she was aware that she signed freely and knowingly, she snapped:

"I refuse to answer that question."

She glanced at her counsel repeatedly as she parried subsequent prosecution questions with the statements:

"I don't remember. I don't remember anything that happened that day."

* * *

Over strong defense protests, two prosecution witnesses earlier took the stand to testify that Capt. Nash made two confessions implicating her husband in the $2,000,000 jewel theft.

* * *

Her husband, Col. Jack Durant, is in military custody awaiting separate trial.

HUNDREDS FILE APPLICATIONS FOR LEAVE PAY

Rush Nearly Exhausts Supply of Forms at Post Office; Vets' Agencies Help.

Mansfield and Richland county former servicemen and women today had all but exhausted the post office's supply of application blanks for terminal leave pay as they thronged veterans' clubs and service offices to complete and notarize the forms.

Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford said that while there were still forms available at the post office, an order had been placed for additional blanks so that no veteran will have to wait to receive his application for unused leave pay.

Application blanks are also available at all veterans' clubs and service offices. Vets' clubs have personnel to aid the veteran in applying for leave pay.

A check of several veterans' organizations today revealed that McVey post, American Legion had processed and notarized some 225 applications: the Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief office, some 75; and the Veterans' Information center, approximately 50.

Other veterans organizations handled a comparable number of applications, although there were fewer reported from those groups which do not have a notary public to complete the processing of forms before they are sent to their respective branches of service.

It was pointed out today that wallet size photostatic copies of discharge papers are not acceptable as evidence of release from service when applying for leave pay. Th actual papers or large-size copies are necessary.

SAVED FROM DRAIN. Mitzi, a 20-week-old kitten is rescued from a 24-hour stay in a drain by two Mansfield policemen. They had to smash open a basement floor on West Fifth street today in order to get Mitzi out. The kitten's 13-year-old owner, Janet Rein, 256 West Fifth street (center), watches as Patrolmen Russel Miles (left) and George Yoakam pull Mitzi to safety. She crawled some 200 feet into the drain from its entrance in a garden and was rescued after three hours of digging today.

WORD SLUGFEST BY AUSTRALIAN UPSETS PARLEY

Peace Conference Thrown in Bedlam as Beasley Opens Bitter Verbal Barrage.

PARIS—(UP)—Australian Delegate J. A. Beasley plunged a peace conference commission into bedlam today when he furiously accused the Russian delegation of "a lot of lying" and trying to bully any country questioning Big Four decisions.

Beasley challenged the veracity of Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet deputy commissar, and at one point in a turbulent slugfest of words they shouted accusations of untruthfulness directly at each other.

Australia's pent-up anger over persistent Soviet needling erupted in Beasley's blast before the Italian political commission. Hammering the table, shouting at the top of his voice, and shaking an angry finger at Vishinsky, the Australian charged the Russian group with trying to "thrust its fist down the throat" of anyone questioning Big Four agreements.

* * *

Attacks Australians.

The row was touched off by Vishinsky's charge that the Australians were trying to delay the conference. They had proposed to set up a special investigating sub-committee to study Big Four territorial agreements.

In the end Australia withdrew the amendment, and the commission adopted a French compromise. It merely pointed out that the rules of procedure allowed the formation of sub-committees when needed.

At one point in the clamor, Beasley, Vishinsky and Chairman Lief Engeland all were on their feet shouting at once.

As Beasley closed, he shouted that it was "irritating" to hear Vishinsky's statement yesterday that he doubted that the Australian delegation represented the Australian people.

* * *

Denies Statement.

Vishinsky rose and shouted back that no such statement had been made. Beasley, he said, "invited" the assertion to present as an argument here.

"That is not true," Beasley roared back. "You did say it."

After tempers had cooled a little, Beasley approached Vishinsky at his place with the Soviet delegation and said something. Vishinsky appeared to cut him off, and Beasley went back to his place.

Vishinsky then tried to recall Beasley, but if the Australian heard he gave no sign. Both went back to reading their papers.

ALBANIAN BID DIVIDES U. N.

Membership Action to Bring Skirmish Between Reds, Western Powers.

NEW YORK—(INS)—First skirmish in the increasingly bitter battle on this side of the Atlantic between the Soviet orbit and the western powers opens tomorrow when Albania makes her bid for membership in the United Nations before the security council.

Russia, Poland and Yugoslavia will support Albania's claim; the United States and Great Britain—with a majority backing—will cast doubt on Albania's ability to live up to conditions of the U. N. charter.

This application is only the first of nine, and of that nine only three are certain of unanimous approval, they being Sweden, Iceland and Afghanistan.

It appeared likely that dissident members of the "Big Five" would exercise the veto power in connection with the applications of Erie, Portugal, Siam and Transjordan, which are opposed by Russia, and of Albania and the Mongolian people's republic, opposed by the U. S.-British combination.

The security council must make a decision officially on all nine by Thursday evening.

In the light of certain and vigorous debate on six applications, it was extremely unlikely that the council immediately would get around to the Soviet Ukraine's serious charge that Greece is fomenting war in the Balkans with the armed aid of the British.

The office of U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie still was without receipt of a threatened charge by Chinese communists that American interference forecasts a major civil war in China.

Also, there was still a possibility that the United States might file charges against Yugoslavia for shooting down two unarmed American transport planes, although this tension has been relieved considerably by the conciliatory actions of Marshal Tito's Belgrade government.

'WHITE BANDIT' BARES JAP PLOT

Soviet Court Hears Cossack Leader Reveal Plans For Russian Conquest.

MOSCOW—(AP)—Secret details of a 30-year-old plot by anti-Bolshevik Russian emigres in the Orient to wrest power in the U. S. S. R. with Japanese aid were recounted in a crowded court room today by a grizzled old man who has been nortorious throughout the Soviet Union for a quarter century as the "White Bandit of Siberia."

Gen. Gregorie Semenov, Cossack counter revolutionary leader and one-time Czarist officer who said he once plotted to assassinate Lenin, unfolded the details of the plot today as his trial, along with seven co-defendants on charges of armed struggle against the Soviet Union, went into its second day before the military collegium of the Soviet supreme court.

Col. Gen. Vasili V. Ulrich, president of the court, who presided at the 1936 Moscow trials, listened impassively as his government's arch enemy testified glibly of mass killings, huge money gifts from Japan and secret details of espionage in the Far East.

For nearly three decades the Russian government has been waiting to get hold of the man who succeeded Adm. Alexander Vasilievich Kolchak as leader of the White Guardists in Siberia.

The former Cossack leader told the court that the Japanese had agreed to make him chief of a puppet state including all of Siberia, if the plot succeeded.

The trial is being held in a courtroom with a capacity of less than 100 persons. A battery of Moscow lawyers sit at the defense table listening to the testimony.

FIRE TRAPS FOUR

BOSTON—(AP)—An entire family of four perished and 50 other persons were rescued over ladders or escaped unaided early today when a three-alarm fire swept a tenement house off Bowdoin Square.

Free Mitzi From a Fate Worse Than Dogs

Police Work Three Hours to Save Kitten That Went Into Drain and Wouldn't Come Out.

By JOHN MINE

Two burly Mansfield cops had to smash a hole in a basement floor today to rescue "Mitzi," a 20-week-old "tiger" cat from a fate worse than dogs.

Mitzi somehow got herself lodged in an underground drain tile. She had crawled into it sometime last night and refused to go "into reverse" after traveling some 200 feet underground.

Her 13-year-old owner, Janet Rein, of 256 West Fifth street, said she missed "Mitzi" last night about 9 p. m. but "thought nothing of it until this morning."

This morning "Mitzi" started to howl—as cats will when lodged in underground drains. So Janet started a search.

She rallied her forces, including her seven-year-old sister, Sondra Lou, and her 11-year-old brother, Carl. Together they followed the sound of the whines. They led to the basement drain.

Immediately seven-year-old Sondra burst into tears. "Mitzi's" in there," she screamed. Carl dashed for the aid of neighbor, Albert Wiseman 254 West Fifth street, and tools—hammers, picks and shovels—began to fill the Rein basement. A call to police headquarters brought additional aid and the rescue work started.

LOSE HOPE

Officers Believe Five Airmen Died in Yugoslav Crash.

BELGRADE.—(AP)— Hope that at least one crew member of a shot-down American transport plane might still be found alive was abandoned today by U. S. graves registration commission officers who said sufficient evidence had been found to indicate that all five crewmen had died in the crash.

The finding of four left feet and part of another left foot convinced them, the officers said, that the five men perished when their plane was shot down on Aug. 19 by two Yugoslav pursuit craft near Bled, in northwest Yugoslavia.

GIVES REP. MAY CHANCE TO TALK

Mead Committee Decides to Keep Garsson Case Open Several More Weeks.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The Mead committee has decided to keep the Garsson case officially open for another three to six weeks to permit Rep. Andrew J. May (D) Ky., to testify.

Francis D Flannagan, counsel for the war investigating committee, revealed today that the senate group has decided not to mark the case as finished yet in order to give the 71-year-old ailing congressman a final chance to testify.

Flannagan stated that as a result the committee's fifth annual report to the senate, scheduled to be made public next week, will not cover the recent sensational investigation of the midwest munitions combine of the Garsson brothers.

The counsel said the committee is still hopeful that the chairman of the house military affairs committee, ill at his Prestonsburg, Ky., home, will recover sufficiently to testify soon concerning his connections with the Garsson firms.

Witnesses testified that May interceded repeatedly with the war department on behalf of the Garssons, who started on a shoestring and wound up with $78,000,000 in war contracts. May was subpoenaed, but suffered a heart attack the day before he was slated to testify.

The committee's report on the Garsson case was expected to be highly critical of the congressman unless he testifies in a manner satisfactory to the committee.

ANGELL REFUGE PLAN GETS OK

Board Approves Fund Drive on Condition That Title to Land Is Obtained.

Angell Refuge, nine-year-old Mansfield organization dedicated to humane treatment and good homes for animals and pets, is out to build a permanent home for the stray dogs and cats which are its charges.

A fund raising campaign of $9,000 was approved last night by the Public Appeals Review board on condition that the Refuge obtain title to the land on which it proposes to build its new structure three miles from the city on Park avenue west road.

The four-and-a-half-acre site is now in the name of Miss Helen Workman, one of the founders and principal workers, along with her sister Florence, in the organization. Approval was for erection of caretaker quarters and facilities.

Work of the refuge is widely known in the city. More than 8,000 dogs have been placed in carefully chosen homes. Thousands of unwanted dogs and cats have been given special care. Relief and treatment has been given to injured animals.

The Richland county commissioners have supported the organization to the extent of $1,000 in 1944; $500 in 1945; and $360 in 1945. The money comes from the residue of the animal damage claims fund after all regular claims are paid.

The board of directors of the Refuge had asked for permission to raise $15,000 but the review board withheld its O.K. on the final $6,000 until a CPA permit is

Nazi War Crimes Trial Nears End

LONDON —(INS)— Reuters reported from Neurnberg today that Sir Geoffrey Lawrence, chief justice, of the Allied War Crimes Tribunal, has announced he expects the trial of Nazi leaders to end some time next Saturday night.

Lawrence was reported to have said the judges would then adjourn, probably for ten days to consider the verdicts.

BOOSTS SUBS

Hart Sees Change in Navy as Atom Bomb Defense.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Sen. Hart (D) Conn. predicted today that submarines equipped with the latest in atomic missiles might constitute America's entire naval strength in a future war.

The retired admiral who stepped into public office for a brief term stated succinctly in appraising the underwater craft:

"The submarine might be the only way we can go to sea if there is another war."

CRIPPLE AUTO BLACK MARKET

Describe Six Arrests in OPA Swoop as Blow at Hub of Illegal Operations.

BULLETIN

LEESVILLE, S. C.—(UP)—OPA investigators today said "more arrests" are expected shortly in the probe of a huge automobile black market, which was cracked here when special agents arrested six men at a bazaar-like open field sale at over ceiling prices.

LEESVILLE, S. C.—(AP)—The government looked today to a raid here on a reputed $75,000,000 black market in automobiles to have a "salutory effect" on other such operations.

Six men were arrested in a swoop by OPA agents yesterday on what they described as the hub of an automobile black market covering 14 states.

U. S. District Attorney Claude N. Sapp said his office would prosecute the cases vigorously, and added:

"These arrests will have a salutory effect on all black markets and particularly on the automobile black market."

The men, ordered held for the November term of court, are under $2,500 bond each and are subject to a maximum penalty of a $5,000 fine and one year in prison.

The special agents, posing as dealers, quietly bought five automobiles at an open air market jammed with an estimated 80 dealers and 500 automobiles. They forged over $12,000 in payment. They said the prices they paid were double the OPA ceilings.

Those arrested were all from South Carolina. One, C. Pope Gantt, 31, of Ridge Spring, identified himself as a former legislator.

Special Agent C. C. Moseley said his men had determined that the Leesville operation was the "fountainhead" for dealers from North and South Carolina, Virginia, the District of Columbia, New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Michigan, Kentucky, Louisiana, Florida and Pennsylvania.

The Leesville outlet for automobiles, said Moseley, operated for at least nine months and sales were somewhere in the neighborhood of $75,000,000.

Trio Ordered To Work Out Prank Damage

Three Mansfield boys, ages 11 and 12, will try to remedy the damage they caused Aug. 20 at the H. J. Ehrman home, 123 Wood street, by spending four hours each at work there, according to terms imposed on them in juvenile court this morning.

The youngsters, charged with destruction of property, admitted that they marked with crayons on the window sashes and panes. Since the owner already has erased these marks, Judge Stuart Cramer ordered the young offenders to spend their time doing work assigned by Ehrman.

The trio was placed on 90 days probation with orders to report weekly to the court.

RESCUE 150

Cloudburst Turns Seaside Resort Into Lake.

YORK, Me. —(UP)— A sudden cloudburst turned the business center of this popular seaside resort into a lake today and more than 150 marooned residents were rescued from their flooded homes by police and firemen in rowboats.

Beginning at 4 a. m. the deluge continued for three hours, backing water off nearby marshlands and flooding the business district to a depth of six feet.

Restaurants, stores and about 40 homes were flooded. Fire Lt. Charles Bridges estimated damage to stores at $50,000 to $75,000, not including loss of stocks.

Source of Rockets Remains Mystery

LONDON —(INS)— The Stockholm correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph reported today that almost complete lack of material evidence has blocked all efforts to determine the origin of mysterious "rockets" seen over Scandinavia.

The writer said protests "would have been made instantly through the proper diplomatic channels" if the power responsible for launching the missiles could be identified. But he pointed out that no single fragment of the projectiles has been found, "except for pieces of jettisoned fuel tanks."

Boy, 12, Narrowly Escapes Death as He's Pulled Beneath Tons of Wheat

A 12-year-old boy who was rescued from a wheat bin at Polk, Ashland county, yesterday afternoon as he was being pulled beneath tons of grain in an elevator was recovering today in Samaritan hospital, Ashland.

Only the fingertips of Marion Dilgard were showing above the wheat when workmen at the Bryan elevator, summoned by the boy's sister, reached the youth.

Unconscious when pulled out of the huge bin, the child was revived by the Ashland fire department and sheriff's officers. His condition was reported as "fair" today at the hospital.

The boy, who fell or jumped into the wheat, was being sucked slowly under the tons of grain when help arrived. He and his sister were playing along the rafters above the bin when the boy plunged into the wheat.

An inhalator was used by the rescue squad to revive the boy after he was removed by a ladder swung down into the bin.

Marion is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Dilgard, who live near the elevator.

Upon being informed of her son's plight, Mrs. Dilgard suffered shock. She was recovered enough today, neighbors reported, to go to visit her son in the hospital. Attendants reported they were unable to say how soon the boy could be released. They said he had been conscious since shortly after he was admitted.

Husband, Wife Die Of Heart Attacks

NEW PHILADELPHIA—(INS)— Plans were made today for joint burial services for a New Philadelphia couple who died of heart attacks within a few minutes of each other.

Robert Williams, 68, was stricken while visiting at home of his son, Ralph, in Kent yesterday. Mrs. Williams, 66, summoned aid and then, learning her husband was dead, collapsed and died almost instantly.

That's the Way It Was Planned

Most of the workers who are coming to Mansfield to rent the rooms pledged recently in a "share-your-home" campaign are veterans- just as the campaign committee planned it, the Chamber of Commerce reported today.

Approximately 700 "spare rooms" have been pledged so far and 175 have been taken by workmen who are coming to Mansfield to take jobs in business and industry, the C. of C said.

F. A. Berkey, chairman of the drive, reported that nine-tenths of the rooms assigned so far have gone to ex-servicemen.

Can You Save This Vet's Home?

(In the hope Mansfield can find housing for some of the 300 veterans needing homes, the News-Journal is presenting daily one typical case.)

* * *

Earle Fatkin and his wife, Annabella, don't want to be separated at the birth of their second child. They remember vividly the loneliness when "Chris," now three, was born while "daddy" was serving two years in the Pacific in command of mine sweepers.

Unless a home is found soon, however, they may again be saddened by enforced separation. The home, where they now live with relatives, is too small for another little one, and Mrs. Fatkin will have to go to Tennessee alone. The doctor says the time is very short.

Earle keeps hoping and looking, and he asks, trying to inject some humor into a most serious situation, "Is this trip really necessary?"

If you can make the answer to Earle's question "No," call the Veterans' Information Center, 1703-6.

KIBLER GETS DEGREE FROM MOOSE ORDER

Organization's Highest Honor Goes to Bucyrian During Session at Mooseheart.

BUCYRUS—The highest honor to be accorded by the Loyal Order of Moose went to a Bucyrian, H. R. Kibler, during the order's convention at Mooseheart, Ill., Monday. The recognition was extended in the award of the Pilgrim degree to Kibler, who is a vice president of the Fifth district. He is the only person from Crawford county ever to receive the degree.

Ten years ago the Bucyrus member was awarded the Fellowship degree in recognition of his work in the lodge. A past governor, he also holds membership in the Legion of the Moose and he currently is a member of the board of trustees.

It was largely Kibler's influence which made possible the acquirement of a new Moose home here a number of years ago, and the retirement of the mortgage.

Kibler, who is a member of the Bucyrus school board, is owner of the Kibler Motor Sales company. He was present for the presentation at Mooseheart Monday night and is remaining for convention sessions in Chicago.

BUCYRUS — Two changes in pastorates in Crawford county Evangelical churches will place new pastors in the Bucyrus charge and at the Republic and Pietist churches. The new appointments were made at the closing session Sunday at the state convention at Akron.

The changes will bring Rev. A. E. McVey of Elyria to the Bucyrus charge, replacing Rev. E. A. Rothgeb who has been assigned to Butler's two churches, and Rev. W. R. Shifler of Gibsonburg to the Republic and Chatfield Pietist church, replacing Rev. H. M. Maurer who will exchange charges with the Gibsonburg pastor.

CAMPAIGN FOR YOUTH CENTER

Lucas Young People to Meet Tonight to Promote Program.

LUCAS—Encouraged by the offer of the spacious second floor of the old Odd Fellows hall for free use as their center, Lucas young people have started a campaign for a youths' recreational program in the village.

First step toward such a plan will be taken tonight when young people of high school age and older will meet in the home of Kenneth Darling. All persons of the age who are interested are invited.

The Odd Fellows building, which was sold to Robert McCready about a year ago, is occupied by the John Deere agency on the first floor and the E. Dean Byerly funeral home in the basement. The funeral home is soon to be moved to a new location under construction. The second floor, which the young people may use, has not been used for several years.

BOUND OVER IN ASSAULT CASE

Galion Man Held to Jury on Complaint of Girl, 12, Who Said He Attacked Her.

Elzworth Moyer, 32, of Galion, charged with criminally assaulting a 12-year-old Worthington township girl, was held to the grand jury on $5,000 bond today in municipal court.

Moyer pleaded innocent to the charge. At a preliminary hearing this morning Moyer denied having attacked the girl.

The girl, who testified, said that Moyer not only attacked her but another 15-year-old girl during a berry-picking trip, Aug. 17.

Dr. D. C. Lavender testified that he examined the 12-year-old girl and said his examinations show that she had been attacked.

Ranger Captain, Crew Get Reward

NEW YORK—(INS)—The captain and crew of the cargo ship American Ranger were richer today by $21,800—their reward from the United States lines for saving a sister ship, the American Farmer, from salvage by a British vessel.

The American Farmer was abandoned 700 miles off Land's End, England, following a collision with the cattle ship William J. Riddle. After a smaller British vessel proved unable to tow the abandoned vessel to port as a salvage prize the American Ranger came and put aboard a crew which sailed the stricken vessel to Falmouth.

VFW Votes to Form Women's Auxiliary to Mansfield Post

Alfred I. Harrington Post No. 3494, VFW, last night voted by a 65 per cent majority to include a ladies' auxiliary unit within the local group for the first time since the post was organized, and mapped tentative plans for the VFW 10th district convention in Mansfield, Sept. 21-22.

Post Commander Harvey Burghard said today that the Mansfield post was one of the last in the seven counties comprising the 10th district to admit an auxiliary to its ranks. World War II members voted overwhelmingly for the measure.

Here to formulate plans for the convention next month was 10th district Commander Frank Howard of Bucyrus, who met with Harrington post members.

Tentative arrangements call for a "Cootie Scratch" and evening parade to be held Saturday, Sept. 21, by the organization's fun group; a joint meeting of all district auxiliaries with the VFW at 1 p. m. Sunday, Sept. 22; and a parade Sunday afternoon.

Commander Burghard said that approximately 500 delegates and guests are expected to take part in the affair.

Harrington post membership took another leap last night when 32 new members were admitted, boosting total membership to 506 veterans with overseas service.

ILLNESS FATAL

R. J. Jones, 43, Succumbs at General Hospital.

R. J. Jones, 43, of North Adams street, died late last night at General hospital following an illness of one week.

Mr. Jones was born in South Carolina July 17, 1903, and had served as a valet in private homes around Mansfield.

He is survived by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Lillian Jones, of Mansfield.

Services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Jones Memorial, in charge of Rev. William Bell, pastor of the Mitchell chapel Methodist church. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

TEAMS COMPETE AT STATE FAIR

11 Club Members in Holmes Chosen to Demonstrate in Columbus.

MILLERSBURG — Eleven 4-H club members of Holmes county have won the right to compete in the state-wide competition at the Ohio State fair this week, according to County Agent S. N. McIntosh.

Selected from a field of approximately 40 club members of Holmes county at the style revue and county elemination contest held at the First Presbyterian church in Millersburg Friday afternoon these members representing five 4-H clubs of Holmes county will vie for the coveted honor of state winners.

Donis Patterson of the Millersburg Busy Beavers club is the winner of individual argicultural demonstriation. Richard Sigrist and Doyle Hasseman placed first in the quality milk team demonstration. They are members of the Winesburg Kid Farmers' club.

The winning agricultural demonstration team was Leyman Bott, Herbert Richards, Dale Mathias and Robert Kendall of the Winesburg Kid Farmers' club.

The five girls who were adjudged winners in the art of dressmaking and the class they competed in are:

Vivian Campbell, Nashville Nimble Nells, complete costume; Joy Brand, Trail Tried 'N True, dress up class dress; and Dorothy Miller, also of Trail Tried 'N True, in the school dress class.

The winning girls' demonstration team which demonstrated clothing made from feed sacks included Eleanor Troyer and Lucille Shutt, Union Valley Busy Beavers club.

Crawford County Weddings Are Solemnized Over the Weekend

BUCYRUS—The wedding Sunday afternoon of Miss Dortha Givin, daughter of Mrs. Clark Givin, Prospect street and William Poper, son of Mrs. Charles Poper, R. D. 1, was solemnized in Good Hope Lutheran church. The service was read by the Rev. John Doesher.

The couple's only attendants were Mrs. Eldon Briegel and Wilbur Given. One hundred and fifty guests attended the reception at the parish house. The couple will live at the farm home of the bridegroom on Route 1.

Mrs. Poper will continue teaching music at the Sulphur Springs school. She is a graduate of Capital university where she was a soloist in the chapel choir.

GALION — Miss Eileen Mae Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Miller of 890 South Market street, became the bride of Ernest Boyd Calver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Calver, 141 Temple Court, Mansfield, in a ceremony Sunday afternoon at the United Brethren church. Rev. C. V. Roop, D. D., read the double ring service.

The couple left for a honeymoon to Niagara Falls. They will live in Mansfield.

Air Races Tickets On Sale In City

Three Mansfield business establishments have been named as headquarters here for tickets to the National Air Races scheduled at Cleveland Aug. 30 to Sept. 2.

Tickets may be obtained in Mansfield at the administration office of the Harrington Air Service at Municipal airport, at Tawse's pharmacy, and at the Book Shop at 40 West Third street.

The air races this year are the first scheduled since before the war.

WALTER KEELER TAKES BRIDE IN NEW JERSEY

Ceremony Held In St. Paul's Congregational Church In Nutley; Couple to Live In Bowling Green.

ST. PAUL'S Congregational church of Nutley, N. J., was the scene of the wedding of Janet Elizabeth Sturtevant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sturtevant of Nutley, and Walter G. Keeler, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Keeler, sr., 121 Washington avenue, this city. The double ring ceremony was performed August 24 by Rev. Albert L. Linder, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church here.

Given in marriage by her father before an altar banked with white gladioli, chrysanthemums, palms and ferns, the bride wore a wedding gown of white satin and chantilly lace with gloves of the same lace. Her illusion veil was held in place with a tiara of seed pearls. As her flowers she carried two white orchids on a white prayer book.

Mrs. Willis R. Walling served as matron of honor and wore a pink mousilline de soie gown while Mrs. A. T. Chamberlain, Mrs. C. W. Dester, Mrs. D. J. Roberts, and Miss Helen Vliet, bridesmaids, wore aqua net dresses. All wore headbands matching their gowns and carried bouquets of spring flowers.

Lawrence Keeler was his brother's best man with Jack Sturtevant, of Nutley and Walter Nelson of New York City, serving as ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Sturtevant chose a light blue crepe dress with blue accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Keeler wore a dusty rose crepe with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the Women's club with 100 guests present.

When the couple return from their wedding trip through New England, they will spend some time in Mansfield and then leave for Bowling Green where they will attend Bowling Green State university.

The new Mrs. Keeler is a graduate of Nutley high school and attended Berkley college prior to service in the WAVES. Mr. Keeler is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and is a veteran of three years in the U. S. navy.

Attending the wedding from Mansfield were Mr. and Mrs. Emil Zimmerman and Miss Ruth Sellers.

Guild Members Have Regular Meeting Monday

Mrs. Jack Anthony, 325 Bartley avenue, entertained members of the United Presbyterian guild at her home last night. Associate hostess was Mrs. Lynn Robenstine.

The business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Fred Proctor, while devotions were led Mrs. Robenstine.

During the program the history of the Mansfield church was reviewed by Miss Jeannette Martin. Mrs. J. Campbell White spoke on "The Forward Look." Letters from former members and ministers' wives were read.

The Sept. 30th meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Dickson, Courtney road.

Shower Honors Mr., Mrs. Davis

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bookwalter, 181 Glessner avenue, entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. George Davis of Fredericktown last night at their home.

Thirty guests were present. Games were played during the evening, and Mr. and Mrs. Davis were honored with a miscellaneous shower.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis were married Aug. 17. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Conn, 125 East Second street, while Mr. Davis is the son of Frank Davis, Mt. Vernon R. D. 1.

MEET TONIGHT.

Members of the Daughters of Union Veterans will meet tonight at 7:30 at Memorial hall with Mrs. Ethel Purdy, vice president, in charge.

MRS. KEELER, JR.

New York Notes

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

(Dorothy Kilgallen is on vacation. Her guest columnist today is James L. Kilgallen, of International News Service, famous reporter and war correspondent.)

"Dad," said the young lady, "will you do me a guest column?"

Well, why not? Hadn't I taken her into the first newspaper office she'd ever seen, bought her ice cream cones in her pigtail days, scanned her report cards, taken her roller skating at Coney Island, sat among the proud parents graduation night, helped her get her first newspaper job on the New York Journal-American, and—mark you—wore a silk hat, a "topper," the day she got married?

Ah, the job of being a father! What's writing a column compared to the ordeal of listening to her first real beau solemnly asking: "May I have your daughter's hand in marriage?" or whatever it was the flustered fellow said.

Nothing like being a father. When your daughters grow up and one of them has a column she writes pieces such as "Rome fell today and there is Dad over there going in with the troops and here I am in New York away from all the excitement and feeling futile—so, instead of writing about Broadway I'll write about him."

Or, "Here it is Father's Day, and Dad's away—this time out in the Pacific watching the atomic bombs go off. So, instead of giving him that pair of striped pajamas, I will write a little piece about him.

Well, friend reader, it's the old man's turn now.

* * *

I remember when Dorothy Kilgallen was a reporter and a crackerjack one, too. I know. I took my scooping with the rest of the working press when she phenagled the first exclusive interview with Bruno Richard Hauptmann, And I've seen her do her reportorial stuff on many other big stories, too. I recall quite well the day we were both covering the Jimmy Hines trial when the office called her in and said, "From now on, Dorothy, you are a Broadway columnist." How she wailed! What, give up front page stories! Be a "table hopper!"

That was eight years ago. She said good-bye to her friends such as Mike Claffey, the Journal's star "leg man," and Tom Dewey, New York's racket-busting District Attorney, and started looking over cafe society in what Walter Winchell and those other word coiners call the bistros. She and Winshell, incidentally, became quite good friends, albeit journalistic rivals in the new field. But she never "table hopped," and still doesn't.

Joe E. Lewis, Sophie Tucker and Martha Raye were topliners at Ben Marden's Riviera in those days. Friendly little Carl Erbe was an ace Broadway press agent, and still is.

Names in lights on Broadway included Tyorne Power, Ethel Merman, Don Ameche, Jack Haley, Ginger Rogers, Loretta Young, Edward G. Robinson and Robert Taylor.

Over the radio you heard Commentators Lowell Thomas, Boake Carter; also Vivienne Segal, Eddie Cantor and Guy Lombardo's orchestra. Harold Lloyd was trying to stage a movie comeback in "Professor Beware" and Martha Raye had just won Mae West's crown as "Queen of the Pacific Fleet."

* * *

Dorothy, a good mixer, got to know them all. She thought Bob Taylor was "awfully nice" because he took her to the Polo Grounds evn though she doesn't know the difference between a pop fly and a bunt.

Carl Hubbell was then the Giants' star southpaw and Mel Ott, the present Giant manager, was batting in the clean-up position. Babe Ruth was through but Lou Gehrig was still in the Yankee lineup.

Hitler was acting up. FDR had the perfect radio voice. Chamberlain was appeasing. You could get plenty of apartments in New York, and cheap. No one had ever heard of the OPA.

Dorothy had plenty of nyolns. She loved clothes. Still does. Ah, those bills I used to pay before she met Richard Kollmar, the musical somedy star, who led her to the altar!

She was always buying hats, six to ten at a crack, and at Lilly Dache's and Walter Florell's, where the prices aren't hay.

Shoes and slippers were strewn all over the room she and her younger sister, Eleanor, occupied. And those racks of gowns! And all those bottles of perfume on their dressers! "Jungle Gardenia" and Schiaparelli "Shocking."

But she's always had a good time. Has her cake and eats it. Her adoring young husband is now a producer and they have a daily radio program called "Breakfast with Dorothy and Dick." She still columns, and loves it. She has two wonderful children, Dickie, 5 (born on my birthday), and Jill, 3. She writes fiction for the slick magazines. She is a housewife and career girl, all in one. Quite a girl sayeth the wise old father.

What! This column finished already? What a breeze it must be, being a Broadway columnist. Watch your step, Dorothy Kalgallen and Walter Winchell!

The Way to a Baby's Heart

An early start, you'll probably agree, but it's the right start, because Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk is a sure way to please any appetite. And here's why . . .

Homogenized Milk tastes creamier and richer because the cream particles are evenly distributed through the milk. Thus, there's cream in every drop, making the last glassful just as delicious and nourishing as the first. Its uniformity also enables more accurate preparation of feeding formulas.

Homogenized Milk is digested quicker and easier, especially by babies, because the smaller cream particles form softer curds in the stomach and combine more readily with other foods. In addition, every quart of Isaly's contains 400 Vitamin D units, the amount nutrition experts say all babies and growing children should have daily to help build strong bones and sound teeth.

If you haven't tried Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk, order a quart or two today and serve to your family. The delicious, creamy flavor, easy digestibility and wholesome nourishment of this richer, better milk will prove why it is the favorite with so many Mansfield children—and grown-ups too!

Just telephone 4217-6 for home delivery service, or stop the Isaly route man when you see him on your street.

For your added health protection, every quart of Isaly's Milk has double sanitary sealing. First, a tight but easily removed cap in the top of the bottle which may be used as a cover when the bottle is not in use, and second, a fresh, cellophane hood which fits snugly down over the top of the bottle and keeps the pouring rim healthfully clean. Look for the crisp, golden cellophane hood on Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON —Scholarships to England's Oxford University awarded by Cecil John Rhodes have long been prize plums to the educationally hungry.

Now comes Uncle Sam with a project that will dwarf the famed British gift by its scope.

President Truman recently signed a bill which provides that up to $20,000,000 can be earmarked for educational exchanges with any country which buys surplus property, and up to $1,000,000 can be spent each year in each country where such a deal is made.

The bill was introduced in congress by Senator J. William Fulbright of the University of Arkansas, who has studied the progress of student exchanges abroad and was himself a Rhodes scholar. Under the legislation, the Department of State is authorized to use some of the proceeds from surplus property sales abroad for exchanges of students and other educational activities.

The bill provided that American students can be given grants of foreign currency to be used for education and research in foreign countries and that American professors can be given grants to give lectures in foreign instiuttions.

Foreign students can be given scholarships to study at American institutions abroad, or they may receive funds to pay their transportation to this country to study The bill does not authorize expenses of foreign students here.

* * *

PRESIDENT TRUMAN shortly will appoint the 10 members of the Board of Foreign Scholarships, which will set the policies that the State Department will administer. Procedure of selection of students also will be set up by the board.

Representatives of the U. S. Office of Education, the Veterans Administration and several state and privately-owned educational institutions will be named by the president.

Veterans of both World wars will be given preference in the awards.

It is expected that the first grants will be made in 1947 and that in the next two or three decades 100,000 or more Americans will be sent abroad.

Agreements have already been made with Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, China, Burma, France, Austria, Holland, Belgium, Turkey, Egypt, Greece, Italy, India, Iran, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, the Philippines and the Scandinavian countries for amounts ranging from $3,000,000 to $20,000,000 for the scholarships.

* * *

THE Rhodes Scholarships to Americans were suspended during the war. Normally about 35 students received the award at Oxford University. They amount to about $1,600 each and are tenable for two years.

They were also held by students from every important British colony and later a certain number were held at the disposal of German students.

Arrests Reach 128 In Bucyrus Drive

BUCYRUS—Thirteen more arrests over the weekend boosted the list of traffic violators to 128 since the opening of the safety campaign three weeks ago.

Receiving tickets over the weekend were Harvey Klink, James Pinney and Vernon Kent, Bucyrus; Paul Strub, Upper Sandusky; Dallas Nye, Marion; Charles Camp, Norwalk; William Lear, Carey and Loren Tupp, Galion, all charged with failure to stop at stop streets; Joseph Pento, Crestline; Earl A. Ruth, Bucyrus; Harold Growel, Bellevue; Luther Shafer and Paul W. Lammers, Bloomville, speeding.

3 Crawford Boys Win Fair Awards

BUCYRUS — Three Crawford county boys in junior fair classes received awards in competition at the Ohio State fair Saturday.

Those receiving awards were Wayne McDowell, Holmes liberty, second and tenth, boar pigs; Charles Graham, Mt. Zion, seventh and ninth; junior sow pigs, and 12th and 13th junior boar pigs.

Several Crawford boys are remaining in the junior fair building while exhibiting stock, with R. O. Deacon and Lester Taylor in charge.

SCHOOL BUS DRIVERS

MILLERSBURG — Additional applications for school bus drivers will be received by the Millersburg-Hardy board of education until Friday, August 30. Anyone interested may appear personally or file their application with Supt. J. Cline Slack or Mrs. Ruth Albury, clerk.

Drivers must be over 21 years of age and have a chauffeur's license and a doctor's certificate.

MEETING POSTPONED

SHELBY—The meeting of the Alathean class of the Baptist church has been postponed until Sept. 6 when members of the class will meet at the home of Mrs. Rilla Briggs on Summit street.

PICNIC CANCELED

SHELBY—The picnic, scheduled for Thursday, of the St. Mark's Episcopal church has been canceled.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

FARMER BROWN'S BOY IS JUST

Justice looks from every side;
Prejudice must be denied.
—Old Mother Nature.

Farmer Brown's boy looked at what remained of what had been a prize head of lettuce, then at several smaller heads, damaged but not completely ruined, there was an ugly scowl on his usually pleasant freckled face. Then he looked over at a row of string beans and his scowl deepened. There were gaps in that row where all that remained of the plants were bare stems. The leaves had been eaten. He was very near to losing his temper. Yes, sir, he was so.

"As if it isn't enough to fight the weeds and worms and insects Rabbits must ruin the garden," he muttered. "They must have had a family party here."

He went over to the row of beans and studied the ground. He found a small footprint. "Woodchuck!" he exclaimed. "A young one. That may mean that there are several in the neighborhood. I hope not, goodness knows."

He went back to the lettuce and looked the ground over carefully. "It wasn't Peter Rabbit, but a young one. For a little fellow he certainly did a lot of mischief," said he.

Just then Farmer Brown came into the garden. He looked at the ruined plants. "Rabbits!" he exclaimed.

"One," said Farmer Brown's boy, "and a little Chuck."

"You will have to get rid of them or there will be no garden. They are pests. There is only one thing to do with pests—get rid of them. You will have to get rid of these just as you do other pests in the garden. Better get Bowser and your gun and go look for that Rabbit. Perhaps you'll find the Chuck too," said Farmer Brown. In his eyes was a suggestion of a twinkle.

The frown had left the face of Farmer Brown's boy. He shook his head vigorously. "No," said he. "They are pests here in the garden, but they don't know it. In so far as they know they have just as much right to the food they find here as to any other food. Why not? To them food is where they find it. These are just plants the same as their usual food. To them there is no difference except that what they find here probably is extra tasty. If I were a Rabbit in a garden I wouldn't think I was a pest. I would think whoever chased me out of it was a pest. Since the war we have heard a lot about misplaced persons. That is what Rabbits and Chucks in a garden are—misplaced persons."

"So," said Farmer Brown, his eyes twinkling still more, "you will let these rascals eat up our garden just because they don't know better."

"I didn't say that," replied Farmer Brown's boy quickly. "We must get rid of them here, but that doesn't mean we must kill them."

"If you merely chase them out they will come back, and by the time they have been chased out often enough for them to realize that they better keep away from here the garden will be ruined. Besides you haven't the time to sit around watching for them," said his father. "Better get your gun," he added slyly.

"Rabbits!" he exclaimed.

Again Farmer Brown's boy shook his head. "Listen," said he. "What is done with misplaced people?"

"What is?" asked his father.

"They are sent back where they came from or, if that place isn't known, they are sent where they can make new homes for themselves without interfering with other folks," was the prompt reply.

"So what?" asked Farmer Brown.

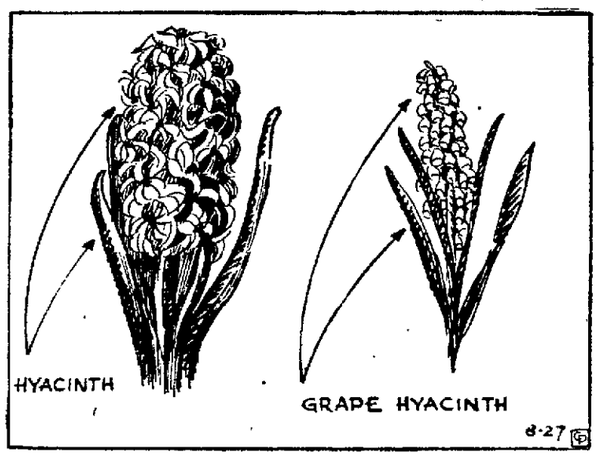
"That is what I am going to do with these scamps," said Farmer Brown's boy. "I am going to take them where they belong; where they can live without doing what other folks call mischief. That is simple justice."

"You haven't got them to take," said his father.

"Leave that to me," retorted Farmer Brown's boy.

The next story: "I Told You So."

Today's Garden-Graph



Hyacinths Are No Longer "High-Hat"

HYACINTHS at one time were considered "high-hat" in gardens, to be used only in formal beds. Today, however, they are frequently planted in informal masses and they well repay for thus being treated as good mixers.

They give an early and striking display of color which adds much to a shrub background, an evergreen planting or a foundation planting, as well as being effective in the perennial garden.

Hyacinth bulbs may be left in the ground and will give a good account of themselves for many years. When buying bulbs it is well to remember that the best bulbs are not necessarily the largest. A solid bulb, firm and heavy, is better than a large, flabby one.

The best time to plant hyacinth bulbs is as soon as they are obtainable. August or September is not too early. Early planting gives the bulbs a chance to form long, strong feeding roots before winter sets in. Plant the bulbs with six inches of soil above the crown. Immediately after the first killing frost cover with mulching material.

A well-formed hyacinth bloom is illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, as well as the bloom and foliage of Muscari or Grape Hyacinth.

Grape hyacinths are ideal for naturalizing in large groups in semi-shady places. They are suitable material for the shrub border, herbaceous border and are especially desirable in the rock garden. These bulbs should be planted 3 to 4 inches deep and spaced 3 to 4 inches apart. After they are established they increase rapidly.

Hyacinths as well as grape hyacinths are both members of the lily family.

When your partner has indicated a pretty good hand by his bidding, but also a misfit as to suit length, you are pretty likely to have a hard time trying to take 11 tricks in a minor suit game. The canny bidder is likely then to prefer his game try in No Trumps, with full knowledge that he requires some kind of luck along the line, but probably not as much luck as taking two more tricks at a suit would require.

Notice how South's bidding at Table 1 on this duplicate deal caused North to show his exact distribution—five hearts because he could rebid them and six clubs because he showed they were longer by bidding them first, also that he showed good strength by his reverse bid of the higher ranking hearts secondarily at the level of three. The 4-Hearts bid gave South a tough decision—should he leave it in a ten-trick contract with a slightly inadequate trump holding, or go one higher into a suit with eight trumps? Whichever he did, North was sure to get set.

At Table 2, South took a chance on North having a diamond as good as the Q or better, hoping he then might be able to run nine tricks. He could not quite do that, but after West led the diamond 4, clearly a fourth-best, South saw the light shine in another way. Holding the 3 and 2 himself, he read that as only a four-card suit. He got the first trick with the J, took two high spades and gave up another. The defense then scored three diamonds, but the club return was won with the A and the rest of the tricks run to make game.

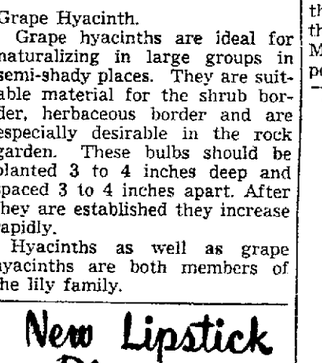
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

Against 4-Hearts, West led the spade J to the Q and K, and East returned the heart 3. How should South now play?

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

A Hollywood ham, witness in an accident case, described himself as "the greatest actor since Booth." "Modest, aren't you?" laughed the judge.

"Ordinarily, yes," said the ham without blinking an eye, "but please remember that I am now under oath."

Three bulls escaped from a slaughter house. One was a big bull, one was a medium-sized bull, and one was a very small bull. The big bull ran into a barn across the road and was captured in no time flat. The medium-sized bull stopped for a red light on the corner and was promptly lassoed. The small bull, however, led his pursuers a merry chase before he was rounded up. The reason for this is that a little bull goes a long way.

A professional card sharp spent a day at the race track and lost every nickel he had in the world. "Before I come out here again," he told himself, "I'm going to learn how to shuffle horses.

Church to Mark 50th Anniversary

WILLARD—Four days are being set aside by residents of nearby Celeryville to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Christian Reformed church.

Special services will be held on Sundays, Sept. 1 and 8, in the church. On Monday afternoon, Sept. 2, a program will be conducted at Plymouth park in which members of the Cleveland Reformed churches will take part, also with music by the Cleveland Choral society. Further, a midweek program is planned in the church for Thursday evening, Sept. 5.

The church was founded by the original Holland settlers when they came from Michigan to establish the community of Celeryville in 1896.

Tygers to Scrimmage Elyria Squad Saturday Morning

IN THE SPORT LIGHT by

Hal Clawson

Nowadays there's nothing like a line!

And if it isn't for butter, meat, nylons or bubble gum—it's for football tickets.

While football lines of the gridiron variety are currently in vogue, fans all over the country are out to make sure that they get on the inside of the nation's high school and college football stadiums.

Today Mansfield high can rest assured that there will be a dozen or so spectators around when they open the season against Marion here two weeks from Friday night.

Ticket Manager George Sherman announced this morning that last night's initial sale of season ducats amounted to 1913.

It was quite a night that most grid fans experienced in buying their tickets for the Tygers' five home contests.

For the general public who wondered what took place we freely give a play by play account:

Although the exact time the line began to form varies, it is said that some fans were there at 4 p. m.

From then on it was just a case of how long the line would get until the box office opened at 6:30.

At 6 p. m,. this writer arrived on the scene, expecting to have no trouble at all getting through the line in short order to pick up seven tickets for some friends. I was badly mistaken.

The line was a good hundred yards long.

* * *

Returning after covering football practice, two persons with whom I talked at 6 p. m. were still not up to the door at 8 p. m.

* * *

At 9:45 p. m. Mr. Sherman was able to call it a day.

He announced this morning that 300 were still available but were on the ends of both sides.

They'll be available at his office at the high school for the remainder of the week.

* * *

Some criticism of the way the school officials were handling the sale of tickets was heard last night.

But I don't see how they could have done it any other way and still have given everyone an equal chance to get good tickets. School heads realized that this was going to be a record year and they were making an honest effort to treat all fans alike.

This same means of selling tickets is carried out at most large schools where seating capacities are limited. If Mansfield could have its new stadium for this fall, selling tickets wouldn't have been such a tough job.

Coon Dog Trials On Tap Tomorrow

Coon dog trials will be held on the Joe Procter farm, five miles south of Mansfield on Route 13, tomorrow beginning at noon.

The trials are being sponsored by Clyde Moore and Glen Matthews and a $300 purse will be awarded the victors.

BERNIE BIERMAN PICKS ILLINI AS CHAMPS

MINNEAPOLIS —(U.P.)— Bernie Bierman, who has coached the University of Minnesota football team to five Big Ten titles, predicted today that Illinois would win the 1946 championship.

Bierman was silent about Minnesota's chances, but said the Illini probably would win, followed by Ohio State, Michigan, Indiana and Purdue.

PEP WINS KAYO

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—(U.P.)—Willie Pep, world's featherweight champion, boasted his 105th victory in 106 professional fights today after knocking out Doll Rafferty, Wisconsin lightweight champion.

Cards Trip Dodgers to Take Full-Game Lead

By JACK HAND, AP Sports Writer.

Murry Dickson, once an obscure bullpen worker but now one of the top pitchers in the league, is the most important single reason why the St. Louis Cardinals have wrested the National league lead from the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Overlooked in early season when Manager Eddie Dyer still had Max Lanier and rookie Fred Martin to take their regular turns, Dickson turned back the troublesome Dodgers, including last night's 2-1 victory that restored the Red Birds to first place by a full game, in piling up an impressive 12-4 win record.

Dickson's success last night put heavy pressure on the Brooklyn club which has to win today's series finale or move on to Chicago trailing by two games. Each team has 33 games to play and the Dodgers will be playing 20 of them at Ebbets field as compared to only 15 home dates for the Cardinals.

Chicago's Cubs, a distant third but still an outside factor in the race, shut out New York, 1-0, to remain nine games off the pace. Hank Wyse earned the nod over rookie Monte Kennedy, allowing no Giant runners to reach second bose.

* * *

Pittsburgh put a crimp in Boston's third place ambitions with a 3-2 victory that left the Braves five lengths back of the Cubs. Elbie Fletcher's double with the bases loaded in the ninth provided the winning margin for Ken Heintzelman over Johnny Niggeling.

* * *

Dick Mauney of the Phillies blanked Cincinnati, 5-0, on four hits as his mates climbed on starter Johnny Hetki and Bob Malloy for 11 blows.

In the American league, Boston calmly continued to eliminate clubs mathematically from the pennant race, knocking out Cleveland with a 5-1 loss. Any combination of 15 Boston wins or New York defeats now would assure the Sox of no worse than a tie.

Tex Hughson's five-hit performance probably was of more importance than the elimination of the Indians because it showed Manager Joe Cronin that Tex is regaining his mid-season form for the world series.

New York boosted its second place margin over Detroit to four games by walloping the Tigers, 10-6, on a seven-run eighth inning. Clarence Marshall, who threw only one ball, received credit for the win over reliefer Stubby Overmire.

Early Wynn notched his fifth victory in seven starts for Washington since he received his army discharge, trimming the St. Louis Browns 5-2, with six hits. It was Bob Muncrief's 11th defeat.

Dick Fowler turned in another fine pitching job for Philadelphia, putting out Chicago, 3-0, with eight singles. The A's pecked away at Ralph Hamner for three single runs in the second, third and fourth, two scoring on errors.

Blades Win Golf Title

Blades scored an easy 5½-2½ victory over the eleventh place Hot Shots last night at Possum Run golf course to cop the championship in the Tappan Stove company golf league.

Members of the championship team are Henry Miller, captain; Paul Schmunk, Joe Harrod and Ralph Joseph.

Al Hager, playing as a substitute last night, took medal honors with a one under par 35.

Other low scores were turned in by Henry Miller and Wilbur Linn, both shooting a 40.

Indians Out of Pennant Race

BOSTON— (AP) —It won't be much of a surprise to anyone, but the Cleveland Indians now are mathematically out of this year's pennant chase.

The Tribesmen officially bowed out of the flag race here yesterday by dropping a 5 to 1 decision to the rampaging Red Sox, who swept the three-game series.

* * *

The loss was the Indians' seventh in eight starts on the eastern trip. Bob Lemon hurled excellent ball for the Redskins but the best they could do in an offensive way was a total of five hits. Boston collected only seven hits but a pair of costly errors helped them along.

* * *

Tex Hughson coasted to his 14th victory, doling out two hits for the Tribe's lone run in the first.

Felix Mackiewicz opened the game with a single and came in on Hank Edwards' lusty triple. That completed the Tribal scoring.

A three-run splurge in the second was all Boston needed. Bobby Doerr started the rally with a two-bagger and Rudy York walked. Dominic DiMaggio laid down a bunt and Catcher Jim Hegan pounced on the ball but fired it past Ken Keltner at third, Doerr scoring. Pinky Higgins then doubled, bringing home York and DiMaggio.

The fourth run was produced in the fifth on Johnny Pesky's walk and Ted Williams' long double. York walked in the sixth and was safe on his steal attempt when Ray Mack dropped Hegan's throw. Rudy went around on DiMaggio's infield single, Higgins' walk and Hal Wagner's infield out.

George Here Thursday

"Georgous" George—that wrestling wonder from Hollywood—is making a return appearance to these parts.

Promoter Earl Myers has signed the handsome curly-haired grappler from the west coast for his wrestling show at the Armory Thursday night.

* * *

Set to go in the outdoor ring if the weather stays warm, George will face Davey Reynolds in the main go of two out of three falls with a one-hour time limit.

* * *

Another newcomer will give the fans quite a show, Myers announced today. He has signed Carlos Rodriqez for a match with Ace Abbott, the singing cowboy.

George usually employs a valet who is almost a double for Tom Dewey. Whether he will accompany George here Thursday night is not known.

PHEASANT RELEASES BREAK ALL RECORDS

Game farms, shifted into high gear following three successive wet springs early in the division of conservation post-war wildlife conservation and restoration program, this year broke all records in the production of 4-week-old pheasant chicks.

More than 42,000 healthy young chicks, a part of the cooperative pheasant rearing program, have now been distributed to all parts of the state, according to Hayden W. Olds, in charge of game production in the game management section of the division of conservation. "This number," Olds said, "breaks all records of previous years in pheasant chick distribution."

CHICK FAVORED

ZANESVILLE —(AP)— National caddy champion Clarence (Chick) Hendrickson was the likely favorite today as about 70 young golfers (under 21) teed off for the state junior championship in a one-day, 36-hole medal play affair.

Bixler Looking for Mediocre Players Rather Than Stars

By DON STULL.

COLUMBUS, O —(AP)—The business of building a 1946 football team got underway in earnest at Ohio State University today with Head Coach Paul Bixler looking for mediocre football players rather than outstanding gridiron stars.

An over-abundant wealth of material — 170 candidates —reported to Bixler yesterday to try on uniforms and pose for photographers, and the new Buck coach admitted that "we'll have to get rid of nearly half of 'em before we can start functioning efficiently."

Bixler, who traded jobs earlier this year with his present assistant, Carroll Widdoes, said he knew "pretty well who his first four men in each position would be," but declined to name names, explaining:

"We can't cut a man off the squad without first giving him a good looking over.

* * *

"We had a couple boys come out yesterday who didn't even know how to put on shoulder pads, but we can't cut them without observing their actions. They'll get a chance."

He said he wasn't sure when the squad would be reduced, but indicated he planned to work with about 50 on the varsity and a like number on the junior varsity, which will play a full season this fall.

He said "the rough stuff" would get underway today with linemen paired against each other in blocking drills and the backs working mainly on forward passing in the first of the two-a-day sessions slated between now and opening day against Missouri here Sept. 28.

"What we'll do most of at the start is run," said Bixler, who admits that time in the service undoubtedly made question marks of the legs of most of his returning gridders.

He has 40 lettermen from Buck squads of the past four years among his hopefuls, including at least 12 former members of the Western conference championship elevens of 1942 and 1945.

These include such former Buck grid luminaries as Halfback Tommy James, End Cy Souders, Tackle Chuck Csuri and Guards Hal Dean and Warren Amling, the latter an all-America choice last season.

TYGER CLUB MEMBERSHIP DRIVE OPENS. Yesterday morning a city-wide drive to secure 5,000 Tyger club members got off to a great start. Mansfield's booster organization for grade, junior high and senior high school activities is starting its third year—and it hopes that it will be its biggest and best. Boys and girls are canvassing the city selling Tyger memberships while all the factories are being covered by members of the Tyger club. Carl Alt, 196 Bennett street, is pictured above purchasing a membership from Eileen Munster, 575 Crescent road, left, and Jane Van Tilburg, 160 Reba avenue. Miss Munster is a ninth grade student at Johnny Appleseed junior high while Miss Van Tilburg is a sophomore at Senior high.

Tygers' Harriers Seek State Title---Already Working Out

Unlike football there is no state ruling on how soon a cross country squad can start practicing.

And if the early bird gets the worm, Mansfield high's hill and dale runners should be in for some honors this fall.

Nearly a dozen Tyger harriers have been working out for some time now and they'll get down to really serious work with the start of school next week.

Paced by three lettermen back from last year's team—Pete Vogt, Harold Leppert and Bob Kibler, the runners have been working out on courses set up in the west part of town. Parks and streets are serving the purpose at the moment.

* * *

Besides the above mentioned boys, others practicing under the guidance of Bob Shade include Joe Schopp, Jim Schuler, Wally Cline, Dale Patterson, Dave Barnhill and Martin Bricker.

Mansfield finished third in the district meet at Toledo last fall but they have their sights trained on the state crown this year.

And this early training will go a long ways in helping the harriers reach their goal.

World Series Details Set

CHICAGO—(AP)— With routine details settled for the World series, which will be put back on a pre-war schedule for the first time in five years, major league club owners today went into an unprecedented huddle to study player contract reforms.

Chairman Larry MacPhail of the major league policy committee, outlined player proposals in a joint meeting of magnates of both leagues with Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler. The owners then were scheduled to adjourn for separate sessions, reconvening for another joint confab which probably will not develop until tomorrow.

The American and National League owners, who suggested the collective bargaining move themselves at a meeting during the All-star game in Boston, July 7-8, are prepared to dig deeper in their funds to meet the players' requests, pressed by threats of unionism and talent scouting by Jorge Pasquel's Mexican league.

The owners have had more than three weeks to study the contract reforms presented to the major league policy committee in New York by a six-man player group. Foremost on the list of proposals are a minimum wage of $5,000 or slightly more, a pension plan involving the raising of a fund by a series of interleague games or by assessments, and incidental spring training expenses of $5 per day. Announced that "agreement in principle" had been reached on all matters discussed but that the items would be regarded as secret until the owners had a chance to study them.

Columbus Nines Battle for Title

SPRINGFIELD —(AP)—Two Columbus nines—Paul's Lunch and Ferguson's Auditors—face each other tonight in a contest for the state softball championship with the former team handicapped by one defeat.

Should the undefeated Fergusons win the game, the title in the double elimination tournament automatically would be theirs. Should Paul's Lunch win, a playoff would be necessary.

Last night's semi-final scores: Paul's Lunch defeated Dayton Longos, 6 to 1, Six Corners of Akron, 1 to 0, and Sobel Jewelers of Lorain, 2 to 1. Six Corners defeated New Knoxville, 3 to 2. Ferguson's Auditors defeated Sobel Jewelers, 1 to 0.

GRAYS PRACTICE THURSDAY NIGHT

Mansfield Grays, with all attention now turned to the county baseball tournament here Sunday and Monday, will hold a practice session Thursday night at Liberty Park starting at 5:30.

Manager Red Hamman has announced that the team will have a picnic at the Olivesburg road side park Friday evening at 6 o'clock.

Jerry Witte on Loose Again

(By International News Service)

That man Jerry Witte was on the loose again in the American Association.

The league's most valuable rookie and leading producer of home runs hit his 40th and 41st last night in the second half of Toledo's double header with league leading Louisville.

Three runs driven in by Witte helped the Mud Hens win that game, 5 to 0, behind John Miller's fine two-hit pitching. The Colonels had won the opener, 5 to 2.

Losing the nightcap, however, cost the Colonels a half game of their lead. Indianapolis climbed to within two contests by blanking Columbus, 3 to 0.

Don Lang of Columbus was injured in a freak first inning accident. Roy Weatherly of the Indians came charging from the dugout between innings to take his place in the field and ran smack into Lang, who was trotting past en route to the Red Bird bench.

Kansas City edged St. Paul, 3 to 2, in a ten-inning game and Minneapolis outslugged Milwaukee, 11 to 9.

Players Scrap For Starting Positions

By HAL CLAWSON

As the Mansfield high Tygers opened their second week of football drills, biggest news item to come out of the camp came from Head Coach Paul Snyder.

The Tyger boss announced that he will take his squad of around 33 players to Elyria this Saturday morning for a scrimmage session with Coach Ike Trubbee's eleven.

With plenty of work still ahead of the squad before the season's opener with Marion high here two weeks from Friday, the test with Elyria should be very worthwhile to the coaching staff.

While several hundred football fans were waiting hours to purchase season tickets for the Tygers' five home games, Coach Snyder and his assistants were sending their charges through seventh day of fall drills.

At this early date, Coach Snyder is tickled over the way his players are going at their daily tasks.

"Every player out there is working hard and realizes that he must put out if he wants to stay on the team," Snyder commented following last night's drills.

* * *

"We still must concentrate on speed. I think that we'll pick up in this department after a few more practices," said the Tyger mentor.

Positions are pretty well set now and there is going to be a lot of keen competition for practically every one of them.

With several changes possible—depending upon the showing of the players in the next few weeks—last night's line had Al Henke and Jim Sinerson at the wings, Bruno Mollica and Dave Boals at the tackles, Dick Gross and Ray Beard at the guards and Dave Wentz at the snapper-back slot.

Behind the line were Bill McKee at wingback, Kenny Horvath at the fullback, Ross Frisbee, blocking back, and Ralph Majors in the tail back post.

Alternating at the ends were Harold Amsbaugh and Tom Emerson, both big and rugged. Frank Elias, Bob Rondy and Tom Nixon are the tackle candidates.

Mario Layacona, Jim Metcalf and Dick Logan are scrapping for guard assignments while Tom McCullough and John McCarrick are behind Wentz at the center post.

Ollie Cline, Joe Miller, a transfer from Madison high, Nick Gagich, Bert Lindsay, Jack Brandt and Dave Richards are the other backfielders.

Coach Snyder pointed out that "every position in the backfield is wide open and we'll be doing a lot of experimenting to find a combination that clicks."

Up to yesterday all work has been on offense with the defense in for attention later. Fourteen plays have been given the team and they are scheduled to pick up two more each day.

The 73 players who first reported have been divided into varsity and reserve squads.

Fred Staub will take over the reserves this year replacing Harry Mehock. This will take some of the heavy load off Mehock's shoulders. He will help Staub with the squad, however.

Qualify Today In Women's Open

SPOKANE, Wash. — (AP) — Two pros and an amateur paced the field as the $19,700 women's national match play open 36-hole qualifying round went into its second 18 holes at the Spokane Country club today.

Red-haired Patty Berg, shaved a stroke off women's par with a 38-35—73 yesterday to take the half-way lead in the richest tournament in women's golf history.

She was followed by amateur Betty Jean Rucker of Spokane, who played over her home course in 34-40—74, and Betty Jameson, former national amateur champion, now a pro from San Antonio, Tex., who had a 37-40—77.

MEXICAN REFUGEE

MEXICO CITY —(U.P.)— Hooper Triplett, banned for life by organized baseball for allegedly betting against his own team, today found refuge in the Mexican league where he will play the outfield for Nuevo Laredo.

Barnes Play G-R Tonight

Barnes Manufacturing softball nine will find itself in for a very busy week starting tonight. The district champs are slated to play three games in four nights.

A fight for the Industrial league crown gets underway tonight at 6 p. m. when Barnes and Gorman-Rupp tangle at Prospect park in the first of two postponed games between the two teams.

* * *

A Barnes triumph will come pretty close to assuring the club of the Indus title although a postponed game with Humphryes Thursday night at Liberty and another contest with Gorman-Rupp for Friday still are left on the sked.

* * *

Still left for next week is a tilt between Barnes and Harrington Aircrafters.

Another Indus loop contest tonight has Harringtons playing Humphryes at Johns starting at 6 o'clock.

Barnes has an 8-1 record while Gorman-Rupp is sporting an 8-2 mark so anything is liable to happen this week.

60 Whippets Work Hard

SHELBY—Under the watchful eye of Coach Al Fendrick and his five assistant coaches, the Shelby Whippets are rounding into shape for the season's opener two weeks from Friday night.

Nearly 60 candidates are working out twice daily seeking berths on the Whippet eleven that will open the season Sept. 13 at New Philadelphia.

Coach Fendrick, making his return to the scholastic football wars, is well pleased with the way the boys have been coming along.

Shelby's nine-game schedule follows:

Sept. 13—at New Philadelphia.
Sept. 20—Willard.
Sept. 27—at Galion.
Oct. 4—at Bucyrus.
Oct. 11—at Ashland.
Oct. 18—Bellevue.
Oct. 24—at Norwalk.
Nov. 1—Upper Sandusky.
Nov. 8—Crestline.

Play Longest Doubles Match

BROOKLINE, Mass. — (AP) — While reviewing their longest national doubles championship victory in tennis history, Bill Talbert of Wilmington, Del., and Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, the successful defending titlist, today discovered they were only one point shy of defeat exactly 10 times during their competition at Longwood.

While coming from behind against Don McNeill of Orange, N. J., and Frank Guernsey of East Orange, N. J., for yesterday's 3-6, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3, 20-18 win—a total of 74 games—they had match point against them seven times.

Talbert and Mulloy won three assignments to get into the finals. But Philipe Washer and Jack Van Den Eynde, the Belgian Davis cuppers, had a match point against them in their second-round match and Frank Parker and Bob Falkenburg of Los Angeles, their semi-final rivals, twice were within a point of victory.

COMPLETE FIELD

NEW YORK —(AP)— The field for the national amateur golf tournament opening at Springfield, N. J., Sept. 9 will be completed today when 892 golfers swing for 141 remaining starting berths in qualifying tests on 29 courses throughout the country.

COURT FREES ASHLANDER OF GAMING CHARGE

Case Against Club Official Is Dismissed When Inspectors Fail to Appear.

ASHLAND — With state liquor inspectors who headed a recent raid of private clubs here failing to appear at a hearing Monday, a verdict of not guilty was returned against Glenn Shriver, secretary-treasurer of the Ashland Athletic club on a charge of permitting display and use of slot machines at the club.

The raid was made Aug. 7 with three slot machines confiscated by the state liquor inspectors and Ashland police for evidence in the trial. The machines were returned to Shriver after Police Judge Harold Andrews found no evidence that the machines were in use as gambling devices at the time of the raid.

Monday's hearing ended the city-wide raid of clubs for gambling devices. There were no findings made against the six other clubs searched in the raid headed by the liquor department inspector.

ASHLAND—Rev. Gil Dodds, nationally known distance runner, will serve as a member of the board of the newly-organized Brethren Youth organization set up at the closing sessions of the national Brethren conference held here last week.

Under Dodds' direction, the youth organization was made a permanent part of the denomination and the youth conference will be a part of each annual Brethren conference. It was decided by the more than 150 young men and women who participated in the youth events.

. . . In Mansfield Today . . .

Set Hearing — Richland county commissioners yesterday agreed to the city's annexation of Fairview allotment, north of Longview avenue, and set 10 a. m., Oct. 28 as the time for the hearing.

Answer False Alarm—Firemen were called out about 6 a. m. today when a woman reported that there was smoke coming from an apartment at Park avenue west and Benton street. Firemen said they found no fire.

Swears In Men—Lt. (j.g.) F. O. Maugans of the Cleveland Navy Recruiting district will be at the Mansfield navy recruiting station at 10 a. m. tomorrow to swear some 10 area men into the inactive reserve, CCM John T. Daley, Mansfield recruiter, said today.

Hear Wessen — Ernest J. Wessen, Mansfield bibliographer, is scheduled to speak at the Thursday noon meeting of the Kiwanis club in the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Wessen will speak on "Ancient History and Modern Industry," or "There's Nothing New Under the Sun."

Examine Gun — Police today were holding for examination a pistol, containing four loaded shells, which was found in the rear seat of a City Cab early this morning. Robert L. Whiteman, of the cab company, told officers he believes the gun was left in the cab by a passenger he took to a New York Central railroad camp at Edison.

"Y" Schedules Events — Members of the YMCA Midget Rifle club will meet at 6:30 p. m. today at the "Y" rifle range, and YMCA Junior and Senior Rifle clubs will meet tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. on the range. Also scheduled for tomorrow is a dance in the youth center at 8:30 p. m.

Ordered to Court—A Mansfield motorist and a manager of a cab company yesterday were ordered to appear in traffic court Wednesday. Clifford Bennett, 395½ South Main Street, was charged with driving 50 miles an hour on Marion avenue. R. N. VanDyne, manager of the Ace Cab company, North Diamond street, was charged with permitting a cab to be operated with an inadequate governor.

OHIO—Mostly sunny, pleasant weather today. Fair not quite so cool tonight. Wednesday partly cloudy and somewhat warmer with scattered afternoon thundershowers.

Green and yellow, the national colors of Brazil, represent two of its natural resources—the vegetable kingdom and the mineral.

2 Area Youths Win State Fair Awards

Two boys from the Mansfield area today were the proud possessors of first prize awards in the Future Farmers of America livestock and poultry judging contests at the Ohio State fair.

Winning first with his entry of three pullets in the "any breed" FFA poultry contest was Bob White of Ashland.

First prize in the Shorthorn yearling heifer class went to Ronald Atkinson, of New London for his entry.

5 Sign Up for Duty In Marines

Five Mansfield area men have signed with the U. S. Marines and will report to Cleveland for enlistment and duty Sept. 30, Recruiting Sgt. Ray Baumann announced today.

Signed today were Jack LaVerne Melton, 219 East Second street; Robert L. Rothrock 99 West Dickson avenue; Lewis L. Snavely, 59 Western avenue; John R. Grega, 578 Grant street; and James W. Young, Lexington, R. D. 2.

TO EXAMINE DRIVERS

BUCYRUS — Crawford county school bus drivers will be given their annual examinations by state highway patrolmen from the Marion headquarters this week. All buses in the county will be examined, and a schedule of dates has been arranged for the various school districts.

INJURED IN FALL

LITTLE WASHINGTON—Vernon Richey suffered several broken bones in his cheek when he fell while helping a neighbor build a home in Lucas.

OBTAIN LICENSE

H. G. WELLS died on the 13th, at 13 Hanover Terrace. He had the number 13, painted a foot high outside his home—"to show what I think of superstition." . . . Some newspapers in hay fever areas publish the pollen count—grains per cubic yard of air—daily . . . Many vets who can't get in our crowded universities are urging the VA to send them to foreign ones, French preferred . . . The Army is involved in a new one—Operations Opera. Texaco has an option on two Saturday afternoons in November, to broadcast the Metropolitan Opera. Army wants those periods for football airings with recruiting "commercials." ABC, in the middle, is trying to settle the muddle.

Pegler Fair Enough

NEW YORK—The United Nations thing has made another pass at a section of Westchester County, N. Y., and I have never seen sensible people carry on so about nothing since the time the New Deal threatened to build a farm-to-market road in Pound Ridge where we had no farms and Ernest Schelling, who ran the village store, got most of his garden sass and eggs and all his meat and caviar and cocktail onions from the wholesale house in the city in a big truck that used the main road.

Nothing ever came of the road. It all seemd to be just a skirmish in a war of nerves. Now I keep telling my frightened Sudeten friends around Harrison and Rye that they won't become displaced persons in any anschluss and to sleep well and forget about the United Nations.

But they are out of control. They see those pictures of packs of people in Europe, minorities convicted of racial guilt, limping and pushing wheel-barrows and carrying the babies down the roads to nowhere, and they can't believe it can't happen here. They are beginning to suspect that traitors among the neighbors, persons who would like to sell out big, antiquated, uneconomical heaps like the old baronial pile at Hyde Park that Mr. Ickes so kindly took off the hands of the heirs, are secretly encouraging the United Nations to buy them out. It is, in a small way, similar to the situation in the Sudetenland first, when the Germans there wanted Hitler in, and, today, when the Czechs or Communists, or whoever runs the show, are running the Germans out.

I say it is all a lot of publicity which, in the end, will show the world that in our country the government can't do that to people, even to accommodate a select group of old-world politicians who were led to believe that Mr. Big and his political heirs could do anything they pleased to the American citizens, and that, in the long run the advertising will increase the value of their places. I say these cosmopolitans made bad character for the United Nations when they looked the whole place over and then picked a spot right outside New York. This was a false move in the first place, because New York is closer to Europe politically than Ireland and, on top of that, they selected a region of beautiful homes for the rich and lakes and golf clubs and sites suitable for night clubs. They had their nerve.

They had their nerve to try to come to New York at all.

Why not Chicago or Pittsburgh or South Dakota if all they want is a place where they can be together in a settlement of their own, with quick communication by wire and radio and plane, and their purpose is to attend to serious business?

Why must they be so close to the Brooklyn Navy Yard and the war industrial areas of New England and Union Square and Communist headquarters and the night clubs and theaters? Would the Russians let them come that close? Our own people don't spend much time in night clubs and theaters and a million or so who work in New York have to travel a lot farther than Harrison and Rye twice a day to earn the money to pay the income taxes to pick up the tab for the lend-lease planes that Marshal Tito has been using to shoot down American soldiers in Jugo-Slavia. Do they know how many of those Americans have never seen the inside of the Stork or Twenty-One or haven't seen Oklahoma and think of Communist headquarters as a center of treachery? Practically all of them.

* * *

Do they know that most of the American homes they have the calm effrontery to try to claim are not estates but dwellings that were built or bought by the families that live in them, and the private property of men who fought in our wars to defend their homes and women who sacrificed luxuries to have them? They do, we may be sure, and they know, moreover, that the quarters to which they are trying to help themselves, depending on the United States to evict the owners, are far better than anything that most of them have ever been accustomed to at home.

I know one place that would be ideal for the United Nations if the idea is just to set aside a patch where these people can segregate themselves in comfort and with plenty of space for libraries, files and meetings.

It is an old army post in the Arizona desert, a few miles from the Mexican border, called Fort Huachuca. It was a small cavalry post originally but during this war it was enlarged enormously and it would be ideal for the United Nations, always assuming, of course, that these people are not intent on a round of pleasure and a system of intrigue with foreign political pressure groups concentrated in New York and on espionage which may be too much to assume.

There is swimming and there are horses and there is hunting in the mountains for wild-cat, wild pig and mountain lions, and in the desert there are birds and in old Mexico there is plenty of hunting, too, and fishing, both deep-sea and fresh-water. There is at least one big theater and there may be more and, anyway, could be, and if the personnel show any sporting blood private enterprise will set up the traps for gambling as high as a cat's back and all kinds of jouncing to the music of the bands by the kind permission of Jimmy Petrillo.

It is ready made and doing nothing and has no future as any army post unless the United Nations should fail in its work but I realize that I am urging folishness because they wouldn't like Huachuca.

Hal Boyle Globe-Jotting

By JAMES DEVLIN
(For Hal Boyle.)

HERFORD, Germany —(AP)— A new problem for occupation authorities is the demobilized Allied soldier who finds that civilian life fails to meet his expectations and smuggles himself back into Germany.

"We are getting quite a few of these cases," said a British official, although the exact number is unavailable.

What impels a soldier given a chance to enjoy placid life at home, to return to these bomb-shattered cities — particularly when an American army survey shows that the highest hope of many Germans is to leave the country and start life anew elsewhere?

Officials say there are at least three reasons.

First, and most obvious some have fallen in love with German girls and want to return to them.

Second: Adventurous types, after years in the army, find life at home comparatively dull. The tough and tumble atmosphere of postwar Germany seems more exciting.

Third: some, dully intending to stay home, can't find jobs, or jobs as well-paying as they want. For years army life has been a part of him, with its work—and its "fun." He comes back.

One illegal immigrant told a simple story.

* * *

He just donned his uniform again, joined a party of soldiers who were returning to Germany from leave in England and arrived here undetected. He lived here for six months without a ration card or official entry at any mess before he was discovered.

* * *

When asked how he did it, he replied:

"Like any good soldier, by scrounging."

As punishment he was ordered not to stay in Germany but to keep out for five years.

In another case, a British soldier fell in love with a German girl. He hoped to return as a member of the military government. He passed the examinations but was told it would be six months before he would be sent to Germany. Rather than wait, he returned on his own and was picked up.

Now that the marriage ban has been lifted, and troops may take brides to England, there may be fewer such cases.

EXAMS SHOW 4-H MEMBERS ARE HEALTHY

Report of Tests Given Entries in County Contest Shows Competition Was Keen.

Defective teeth and lack of immunization against diphtheria eliminated most competitors for the title of Richland county's healthiest boy and girl, a health department summary showed today.

But winners of the title, Leonard and Donna Wilson, of Shelby, R. D. 3, had some stiff competition before they compiled their winning scores of 970 and 990, respectively, in the health contest. Perfect score is 1,000 points.

The summary showed that of the 402 children examined during the 4-H club's health contest, 160 had defective teeth and 127 had not been immunized against diphtheria.

A great majority of the children examined, however, had near-perfect postures, skin, hearing and limbs, according to the summary which was prepared by the two county nurses.

Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, commended the fact that the vast majority of the examinees had been immunized and vaccinated.

Most Were Immunized.

The summary shows that 275 had been immunized against diphtheria and 305 had been vaccinated against small pox. "This record is outstanding," Dr. Wild declared.

Eighty-five of the children examined had nutritional defects, the summary shows, 68 had tonsil defects, and 30 had vision defects.

The contest summary, prepared by nurses Mary L. Bushey and Betty Pifer, showed that only three of the children had posture or skin defects, eight had defective hearing and only two had orthopedic (limb) defects.

ENFORCE LIQUOR BAN AT SHELBY

Mayor Says Sales Must Halt During Street Fair Which Opens Sept. 25.

SHELBY—Mayor Frank Long today disclosed that police here have been instructed to enforce the 1888 state law prohibiting sale of alcoholic beverage within a two-mile radius of the Community Street fair on Main street Sept. 25 through 28.

Mayor Long said the local liquor establishments would be asked to go along with the observance of the newly-resurrected law, unless, in the meantime, some new decision is made that annuls its enforcement.

The law includes all intoxicants stronger than 3.2 beer.

Plans are going forward for one of the largest street fairs ever held in this city. The fair was discontinued in 1941 after the war started. It will be in charge of the Shelby Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Main street will be closed to automobile and truck traffic from the B and O. tracks to Church street for the fair. Approximately $300 will be given away in premiums to the exhibitors.

Parks Group Maps Program

J. F. O'Donnell last night was named chairman of a steering committee for beautifying Maple Lake and South parks and improving their playground facilities.

L. R. Frere and H. M. Fitzsimmons were appointed chairmen of future planning committees.

H. L. Kochheiser, vice president of the South and Maple Lake Park association, conducted the meeting last night at the Maple lake hut.

C. N. Shultz, Second ward councilman, will speak at the association's next meeting, Sept. 9.

Clinage Child Dies at Hospital

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Clinage, 616 South Diamond street, died soon after birth Monday at Mansfield General hospital.

Surviving are the parents, two brothers, Raymond, jr., and Richard, two sisters, Betty Jane and Barbara, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clinage and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Turner, all of Mansfield.

Burial in charge of the Wappner funeral directors, was made today in the Mansfield cemetery.

District Governor To Address Lions

District Governor Clarence Jenkins will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Mansfield Lions club Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Lion presidents will be honored at the first meeting in September which will also be the first meeting in the 100 per cent recognition contest planned by the Lions International.

The Lions' family picnic is scheduled for Liberty park, Sunday, Sept. 15.

Bid's Too High, So City Must Wait for New Street Markers

Mansfield's street signs are destined to remain illegible until a better price for re-painting them is received Service Safety Director William W. Enlow indicated today.

He said he had received one bid for the re-painting job—at $1 per sign. "That's too high," he added.

City council has appropriated money for the purchase of 18 new street signs and set up a $500 sign painting fund.

Condition of the markers has brought numerous complaints from visitors in the city who found them little help in locating addresses.

Many of the signs are so weather-beaten that they are illegible while boys have twisted others so that they mark the wrong streets.

City officials have explained that workmen were not available to recondition the markers during the war and now the cost of labor and materials is so high that the fund appropriated for the work falls short, the safety-service director pointed out.

CUT 8 TIMES

Mansfielder Wounded in Knife Battle in City.

Simms Turner, of Mansfield, was wounded eight times by a knife in a fight yesterday afternoon with another Mansfield man, police reported.

Turner told officers that he was involved in an argument with the man at the home of Ethel Paul, 259 North Main street, yesterday around 3:30 p. m. Turner was treated and x-rayed at General hospital and released, officers said. They said he received lacerations of the left shoulder, elbow, forearm, leg and the left side of the neck and body as well as cuts on the right arm and right side of the chest.

Officers advised Turner to see County Prosecutor Theodore Lutz if he chose to file charges against his attacker.

Granges Rate High In Member Drive

Richland and Morrow county Granges were among 16 county organizations in Ohio which reported a gain of 50 members or more during the three-month period ending June 30.

This was the second three-month period this year that Richland county Granges have gained a membership of more than 50, according to Harry Stroup, Shelby, Pomona master.

'Lost' Youth's In the Army

George Benbow, the 16-year-old Galion high school athlete for whom an extensive search has been conducted since his disappearance Thursday, enlisted in the army and is stationed at Camp Atterbury.

That information reached his father, John A. Benbow, today from an unexpected source. A former resident of the Children's Home at Galion casually mentioned on a postcard to the home's superintendent, Marvin Adams, that George was now enlisted in his outfit. Adams promptly communicated with the father of the missing youth.

Young Denbow had not been heard from since he left Columbus Thursday morning, intending to return to Galion after a visit with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Vetula.

FARM PICNIC SET FOR SUNDAY

Congressmen Are Scheduled to Speak at All-Day Party at Plymouth.

The fourth annual Farmers' picnic, sponsored by the Ohio Marketing Quota protest association, is scheduled for next Sunday at Mary Fate park, Plymouth.

Speakers are expected to include Congressman J. Harry McGregor of the 17th district and Congressman William Lemke of North Dakota.

H. H. Fackler, head of the sponsoring organization, said attempts are being made to bring other legislators to the meeting to speak.

Open to the public, the picnic has attracted as many as 3,500 farmers and their families. The Ganges band will play Sunday. A basket dinner will be served at noon.

MRS. DEVIS DIES

Brief Illness Fatal to Life Resident of City.

Mrs. Bertha Devis, 56, wife of Phineas Devis, 110 South Adams street, died Monday at the Mansfield Sanitarium-Hospital after a brief illness.

Born in Mansfield Dec. 29, 1889, Mrs. Devis spent her entire life here. She was a member of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Foresters lodge.

Surviving are her husband; her mother, Mrs. Julia Zeller and one brother, Willis Zeller, all of Mansfield.

The body is at the Wappner funeral home where services will be held Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. in charge of Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger. Burial will be in Mansfield Memorial park.

Learns of Death Of Sister-in-Law

Word has been received here by Mrs. C. H. Henkel, 777 Woodhill road, of the death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. E. M. Barr, of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Barr died Saturday at her home and services were to be held in Washington today.

Mrs. Barr was the former Belle Morrison, one of four daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Morrison of Galion. She was graduated from the Galion high school in 1888, and after teaching several years, married one of her former classmates, E. M. Barr.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Barr leaves a son, Morrison Barr of Washington, and one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Wineland of Elkhart, Ind. Mrs. G. L. Stiefel of Galion is another sister-in-law of Mrs. Barr.

BAN LIKELY TO END

MINNEAPOLIS —(INS)—Minneapolis health authorities were considering lifting restrictions today on children gathering in public places as infantile paralysis sharply decreased in the Minneapolis area. Health authorities announced they were planning a meeting tomorrow to discuss lifting the ban which now restricts children 15 years old and younger from theaters and other public places.

PRODUCERS TRY TO BEAT NEW PRICE CEILING

'Eat Meat While You Can,' Packers Advise; Predict Famine During Winter.

CHICAGO—(AP)—"Eat it while you can" was the advice of the meat industry today as packers worked at turning the largest cattle run since 1934 into steaks, rib roasts and other cuts of beef.

Packers predicted freely that by Thursday, when new OPA price ceilings on live stock are scheduled to become effective, the currently jam-packed livestock markets would resemble the great open spaces.

"Cattle are coming to market which should never be slaughtered," Norman Draper of the American Meat Institute said. He added that this winter there would be "a real famine."

In their rush to get in under OPA ceiling deadlines, producers were sending to market lightweight hogs and cattle which normally would remain on farms for months contentedly munching grain, livestock observers said.

Twenty of the nation's largest stock yards handled a total of 183,000 cattle yesterday, including 40,000 at the huge Chicago yards, the largest run for any one day here since Sept. 24, 1923, and the largest one day total on record for August. In 12 major markets receipts were 21,000 calves, 52,000 sheep and lambs, and 75,000 hogs, including a run of 21,500 at Chicago.

Prices Drop.

Prices of almost all classes of hogs and cattle dropped sharply under pressure of the bulging receipts. Top price of $30 a hundredweight was recorded here for two loads of prime cattle, equalling the all-time high established last Saturday. However, most other steers slumped $1 to $3 under last week's close, and the bulk sold within a range of $18.50 to $25.

Hog prices here slumped to the lowest levels since July 13. Top loads sold at $19 compared with $21.25 at last week's close and $24.50 last Friday. The average was $17.50 against $19.75 last Saturday.

The agriculture department reported that yesterday's run of hogs here was comprised of at least 75 per cent of hogs weighing less than 180 pounds and of sows.

Meat experts said the hogs should have been kept back in the country until they weighed around 250 pounds while many of the sows should have been retained for breeding purposes.

The American Meat Institute said "uncertainty among livestock producers regarding the future obviously is causing this liquidation."

A spokesman for one of the largest packers said the heavy runs indicates that producers do not realize that ceilings might go off livestock soon.

He said the emergency price control act provides that on the first day of each month the secretary of agriculture must certify to the price administrator which agriculture commodities the secretary determines to be in short supply.

If he finds livestock is not in short supply, the decontrol board will meet, hold hearings and report its findings. If the secretary's findings do not agree with the action of the board, he may overrule them, an office of price administration spokesman said.

Sept. 1 is the date set for OPA control prices on processed meats; Sept. 5 for wholesalers, and Sept. 9 for retail sales.

WINNER AGAIN——

Mrs. J. W. Leistensnider of 87 Greenwood avenue today had won a "sweepstakes" prize at the Ohio State fair, but it wasn't for playing the horses. It was the top award for the best quilt exhibited at the fair, and marked the second time she had won it. Taking prizes for her handiwork is a hobby with Mrs. Leistensnider, for five years ago she won a national award for her quilting in a New York City contest and has won three awards for crocheting, besting some 40,000 entries from all over the nation.

SURPRISES HIM—

Scout Executive Floyd Dent got a big surprise when he walked into his office upon his return from a two-week camping trip to Gracefield, Quebec. There, hanging over his desk was a large wooden sign reading "10,000 yen reward for the arrest of "Buckshot" Floyd Dent, see me." Dent blamed Scouter W. C. Mead who had placed the same sign prominently before the campsite in Canada. Mead came back to Mansfield ahead of Dent.

E. R. Hershey Dies at 55

Emmett Roland Hershey, 55, training supervisor for Westinghouse, died at noon yesterday at his home on the Amoy-Pavonia road. He had been ill for several months.

Born in Mansfield May 29, 1891, he had spent his entire life in and near the city. He had been employed by Westinghouse for the past 24 years. He was a former member of the Union Rural board of education.

He is survived by his wife, Linna Oswalt Hershey; two daughters, Marvena Hershey and Mrs. Janice Lehman, and a grandson, all at home; a brother, Clark Hershey, of Ashland, several nieces and nephews and a son-in-law, T 5 Raymond B. Lehman, of the U. S. army.

He was a member of the Pavonia Methodist church.

Rev. Floyd Eckert will conduct funeral services at the home Thursday at 2:45 p. m., and at the Franklin church at 3:30 p. m. Burial will be at the Franklin cemetery. The body is at the home. Gilbert funeral directors of Ashland are in charge.

CAMP TO OPEN

Boy Scout Officers to Attend Sessions at Lake.

Mansfield Boy Scout Troop 6 has scheduled an officers training camp for patrol leaders and assistants to be held Wednesday through Friday at Charles Mill lake, it was announced today.

Some 15 Scouts will meet tomorrow night to plan a program for Troop 6 for the coming year during the three-day period.

During the opening session of the camp the Scouts will fete the troop committee with a "hunter's stew" dinner and a special program.

Major Doughty To Leave City

Major and Mrs. Victor Doughty, who have been in charge of the Mansfield Salvation Army post, today were making plans to move to Alliance where he will take charge of that division of the Army.

Major Doughty, who specialized in visual education since coming to Mansfield a little over three years ago, is planning his farewell services for next Sunday night.

Replacing the Doughtys here will be Major and Mrs. Howard Carey, who will come to Mansfield from Steubenville. The change is part of regional order reassigning some 20 to 25 officers.

The Doughtys expect to move early next week.

HEAVY SALES PUSH STOCKS INTO LOSSES

Market Pivotals Drop From 1 to 4 Points as Bears Gain Control.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stocks, led by industrials and rails, ran into heavy selling today and market pivotals dropped 1 to more than 4 points.

Dealings, fairly active at the start, eventually tapered and initial losses were trimmed here and there by midday. Offerings then became urgent and, for a while, the high speed ticker tape was behind actual floor transactions.

Bearishness over the foreign picture and labor situation at home received the principal blame for early liquidation. When the averages finally broke through the July lows, chartists viewed this as a gloomy signal.

Industrial Atomic Power Plants Possible In 5 Years

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Atomic power plants for industrial use are possible in one to five years, but the big question is whether they will cost too much to be worthwhile.

That is the opinion of Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the National Bureau of Standards, and one of the nation's leading atomic scientists.

The big power companies "and everybody else is trying to guess whether this source of power will be cheaper than coal or water—and it is like trying to balance the budget, nobody knows," he said.

He foresaw that "little" plants might be erected for small towns where elsewhere large ones could provide as much power as the Grand Coulee dam. But, he said, the "economics" of the problem has yet to be solved. He said it was his belief that atomic power plants would not be "fantastically expensive."

Condon pointed out that uranium is not so costly, but that the large expense would be in capital investment and the development and maintenance of special plants.

He is eager that the bureau, which contributed much to development of the atom bomb, play a leading part in working out industrial uses of atomic energy.

He foresaw that another probable use of atomic energy would be to propel ships—and here, he said, the advantage might far outweigh any additional cost.

He suggested that atomic-powered ships might have a more far-reaching effect on the navy than the atom bomb itself. He pointed out that with atomic power, the cruising range of ships could be increased to such an extent that they would become independent of bases. The navy is working on this.

When they don't need to refuel, the ships would need only such additional supplies as food, he pointed out. He believed only such atomic power plant for a ship, plus concrete shielding that would be required to protect personnel, would weigh less than the bunker and boiler equipment and fuel now needed.

STARTS WORK

CAA Begins Survey of New Port For Lights.

Basic work for the installation of a $35,000 lighting system at Mansfield's new airport had started today, but apparently actual construction work will still be delayed until after Oct. 1.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said that a Civil Aeronautics Authority engineer has started "laying out" the lighting system. Most materials for the system are also at the port, Vaughn said.

The CAA engineer at Mansfield port, F. A. Gurdes, said yesterday that they "can't proceed before Oct. 1." He is, however, mapping locations of the runway lights and beacon tower and lining up cable and transformer sites, the mayor said.

MOTOR FIRM CLOSES

DETROIT—(U.P.)—The assembly lines of the Chrysler Motor Car corp., third largest American manufacturer of automobiles, were closed for a week today because of supply shortages. The Chrysler plant has been turning out 3,500 cars and trucks daily.

obtained or building restrictions are lifted. At present the Refuge has only an FHA permit issued to Miss Workman for construction of the residence portion of the structure. Temporary pens are already in use at the refuge site.

Dates were set for the Refuge fund drive to run until Sept. 1 and to resume, if necessary, between Nov. 1 and 15 in order not to conflict with the Community Fund campaign in September and October.

The Public Appeals review board also approved a request from the Volunteers of America to raise between $3,000 and $4,000 for their Christmas and Winter programs between Nov. 1 and Dec. 24.

R. L. Gutterman, Adjutant of the Volunteers, gave a detailed review of the work of his organization to the board prior to granting of his application.

Ex-Bucyrus Rail Official Dies In Canada

BUCYRUS — Services are expected to be held in Bucyrus Wednesday or Thursday for William C. Franz, 75, native of Bucyrus, who died Sunday in Sault Ste Marie, Canada, where he established himself as an industrial figure during the last 38 years. The arrangements for bringing the body back to the birthplace for burial are in charge of William Wise and Sons.

Mr. Franz left Bucyrus soon after the turn of the century and had held important positions in Columbus and Charleston, W. Va., before going to Canada. He was associated with the old T. and O. C. railroad here and later with the Hocking Valley and the K. and M. railroads. At the time of his death he was general manager and vice president of the Algoma Steel corporation of Sault Ste Marie.

Survivors are his wife, Josephine Harshberger Franz, formerly of Marion; one son, James and two grandsons and a sister, Mrs. Jane Barth of Bucyrus.

Mr. Franz was a charter member of Bucyrus Elks and was affiliated with the Masons.

RAY G. GOOD

Ray G. Good, 55, died early today in his home at Mifflin after a brief illness. He suffered a cerebral hemorrhage Sunday.

Born in Lucas, Oct. 18, 1890, he had spent his entire life in the vicinity. At the time of his illness, he was employed at the Barr grocery in Mifflin.

Survivors include his wife, Florence; and two daughters, Mrs. Jack Markley of Mifflin; and Betty Good at home.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Friday at St. Michael's church of which he was a member. Rev. C. B. A. Stacy, pastor, will officiate. Bural will be in the Mt. Zion cemetery. The body will remain at home until the hour of the services.

VISIT GREEKS

U. S. Warships Preparing to Make 'Courtesy Call.'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — U. S. warships will call at Greek ports next week in what was described by the navy today as a "visit of courtesy" occasioned by the "great admiration of the Greek people" for the late President Roosevelt.

The 45,000-ton aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, currently on a Mediterranean cruise, and the 10,000-ton cruiser Little Rock, with three destroyers will visit Piraeus, the seaport for Athens, from Sept. 5 to 9, the navy announced.

Two other destroyers will visit Salonika at the same time, the navy said. The way was left open for a possible visit to a Turkish port.

MERCURY RISES

Summer-Like Weather Due Back Today, Forecast Says.

Summer warmth was due back in Mansfield today after more than a week of temperatures in the low 70's and 60's.

Area gardens and the corn crop, retarded by the cool weather, will get a break from sunny and pleasant weather today and rising temperatures tonight. The prediction for tomorrow was somewhat warmer with cloudiness and scattered showers.

Prediction for the five-day perior ending Sunday indicates that this area may get showers again on Sunday with the mercury due to stay about normal.

Does 'Brodie' to Convince Papa

CINCINNATI — (INS) — It took a "Brodie" by the prospective bridegroom to get it, but "the folks" today consented to the marriage of 17-year-old Ella Lindley to Billy Paul Allen, also 17.

Denied permission to marry his love, Billy leaped from the center span of a high railroad bridge into the Ohio river. He was fished out, however, and Ella's father then relented and consented to the marriage. Billy's widowed mother also "gave in."

MORAN LOSES

Jury Unconvinced By Former Gangster's Alibi.

DAYTON—(AP)—George (Bugs) Moran, a rival of Al Capone in Chicago's gang wars of the prohibition era, failed to convince a jury of 11 women and one man here that he had settled down in Kentucky as a respectable business man.

Moran and two pals were convicted here last night of the robbery of a tavern that called for a 10 to 25 years sojourn in Ohio State Penitentiary.

Throughout the 11 days' trial Moran, who was known as Bugs by Chicago hoodlums because of his moodiness, insisted that he had been living a quiet, circumspect life in Henderson, Ky., as an oilman. He produced two witnesses from Kentucky who agreed with him and he also offered an alibi that he was elsewhere when John Kurpe, jr., a tavern employe, was robbed of $10,000 last June 28. Convicted with him were Al Fouts of Dayton and Virgil (Doc) Summers of Henderson, Ky.

Pull 'Mitzi' Out of Drain

"Mitzi" refused to be coaxed back out of the drain which she had apparently entered from the garden. A pile of refuse blocked her exit into the basement.

So the cops did the next best thing. Patrolmen Thomas Hempfield and Russell Miles measured off a foot or so back from the drain's opening and began digging. News-Journal photographer George Petrovic put down his camera and joined the forces. Even Service-Safety Director William Enlow was there.

"Mitzi," after her 24-hour stay in the drain, was finally extricated about 11 a. m. today. But not before a one-foot wide hole had been smashed in the Rein basement.

How'd "Mitzi" come through the ordeal? Well, according to Miss Janet, "she's pretty dirty, but that's all." At last reports, "Mitzi" was contentedly washing herself preparatory to galloping about again with the Rein's other kitten "Taffy."

The three Reins are the children of Mrs Madonna Rein.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, AUGUST 27, 1946

It is estimated that "the average American" is now a millionaire—in Chinese money.

According to one scientist, "every person has something wrong with him"—which surely must be disillusioning to some people.

By the way, what's being heard nowadays about the health of Congressman Andrew J. May—or has the investigation been called off?

Students Encounter Housing Shortage

WHILE the housing shortage is general over the country it is particularly acute just now in cities and towns in which colleges are located, and it appears that many GI's who would like to go to college will be prevented from doing so because of being unable to find a place to live.

Reports are to the effect that thus far only 11,000 of the 103,000 temporary housing units authorized by the government for student veterans have been completed, but it is hoped that another 18,000 can be finished this month and the same number in September. The most optimistic total, however, is far from the number needed.

This type of construction, according to the Federal Public Housing Authority, consists of war housing projects or barracks which are moved to college campuses. The college is to take care of the preliminary work of having plumbing, electricity and telephone lines installed. In many cases the college has been slow in achieving these preparations, because of material and labor shortages.

Besides these units provided by the government are all sorts of homes for veterans devised by desperate college officials who have combed the countryside. But the situation is so strained, ex-GI's bound for study had better make doubly sure of a place to live before they uproot their families and start for the campus.

Gratitude Is Their Pay for Work

THERE'S something heartening in that little story in yesterday's News-Journal about how members of the Christian Apostolic church are volunteering work and donating food and clothing for shipment to distressed persons in various parts of Europe.

True, there is a bond of nationality, relationship and church association that influences this particular activity, but there is also evidence of realization that a share of personal effort should go to the benefit of others.

Examples of this commendable trait are more likely to appear in rural areas and in villages or small towns than in cities—yet it is not so many years ago that Mansfield's women's club groups did sewing and made contributions of needed articles to General hospital, and a number of persons are still devoting considerable time to advancement of the work of Friendly House, the Boy and Girl Scouts, the Y's, church and fraternal activities and the like.

Many of these, however, lack the volume of voluntary work which would greatly increase their effectiveness, and the example provided by the women and men of the Christian Apostolic church might well be adopted by other groups—whether the needs be far away or close at home.

Grab---While the Grabbing Is Good

EXTENT to which price gouging has become a practice among various caterers to public patronage is being brought forcefully to attention of vacationers who neglect to ask the price of an article at some resort spot before placing their order.

For instance, a Mansfielder can be pardoned for a "burned up" feeling over an experience at Cedar Point Sunday. With a family group of four he dropped in at a refreshment stand for soft drinks—regularly priced at five cents, but for which 10 cents is considered a legitimate overcharge at such places.

As the waiter brought the four bottles the patron held out a dollar bill and belatedly asked, "How much?" "That's just right," the waiter imperturbably replied, "25 cents a bottle."

Cedar Point, like other such resorts, has a short season, and concession rentals are reported to have been substantially increased—but, except for the extremely wealthy, it may be wondered how volume patronage can continue to be attracted to places at which a 500 per cent increase in customary prices is deemed justified.

Another Mansfielder who was at Greenville to attend the Darke county fair last week reports that, to prevent price gouging, announcement of authorized prices at various concessions was made at regular intervals over a loud speaker, with request that report be made of anyone attempting to charge a higher price. Which sounds like a good idea.

Mastersingers Plan for Next Season

JUDGING from the extent of patronage, excellence of entertainment and enthusiastic reception accorded last season's initial offering of the Mastersingers, the permanence of this organization in Mansfield musical circles seems assured.

This is being said now for the reason that steps are already being taken to develop next season's group of fifty male singers and to secure a sufficient number of associate memberships to carry through plans for two high-class concerts, one in January and another in June.

Musical talent and appreciation in Mansfield and vicinity seems such as to leave no doubt that this project will be carried through to complete success.

Space for More Roof-Gardens

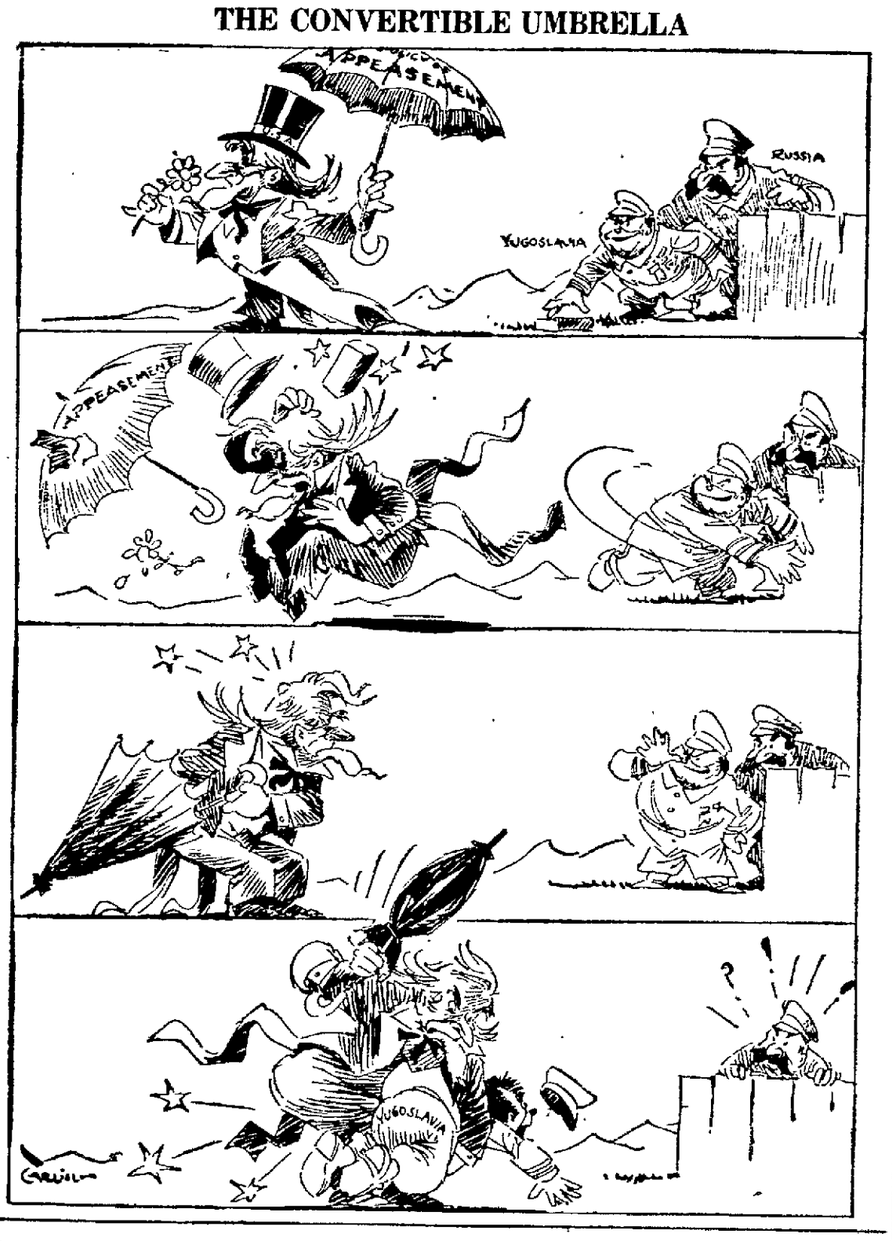
A NEW YORKER writes to the Times suggesting that garages be built in congested areas with parks on top of them. Instead of sending cars into basements and subbasements, why not tear down an old building here and there and build garages which will house cars on two or three floors, possibly more, and have roof-gardens with grass, trees, flowers and maybe fountains and pools on the top? The gardens would be available to all who want a little green rest and refreshment for eyes and hearts.

The idea sounds more and more reasonable as one thinks about it. And why is all that space wasted on top of almost flat, high buildings, anyhow? Surely something pleasant and attractive could be done with much of it.

Scarcity of lumber may be at least partially due to the amount required for use as temporary bumpers on new cars.

The rich argue that the poor lead happier lives—but apparently they prefer to remain unhappy.

THE CONVERTIBLE UMBRELLA



Soviet Seen Girding for Action As Diplomatic Battle Intensifies

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

DIPLOMATS in both Washington and London are viewing the "release" of Maxim Litvinoff from his position as Soviet deputy foreign minister as having a special significance in the present strained situation between the Russian bloc and the Western allies.

American diplomatic circles in Washington interpret this development as a blow at Russian co-operation with the United States and Britain.

London, also apparently viewing the change through dark glasses, notes that Litvinoff long has been an advocate of collective security and close relations with England and America. In the past his resignation and appointments sometimes have foreshadowed changes in Soviet foreign policy.

Perhaps it's possible to exaggerate the importance of the old revolutionary's "release". He is seventy years old, and I happen to know that he is far from being a well man. His health may enter into the picture. Be that as it may, whether he is being let out because of his beliefs or because of his health, it's safe to assume that the Soviet government does contemplate a more vigorous—or perhaps more alert—foreign policy and that, for one reason or the other, he doesn't fit into the picture any longer.

In short, it looks as though the Soviet foreign office were girding for action. Moscow has a lot of balls in the air and it will take keen juggling to keep them going.

The general picture emphasizes the growing breach between Russia on the one hand and the United States and Britain on the other—the Big Three upon whom we are banking to preserve the peace of the world. This column has stressed that point before, and returns to it now because it is vital that each of us should recognize the dangerous drift.

Daily the diplomatic warfare has been growing fiercer until it exploded into actual gun-play in the unspeakable Yugoslav incident. The deliberate shooting down of unarmed American transport planes with loss of life came mighty close to being an act of war. But there are other pots ready to boil over.

The Paris Peace conference has been in an uproar ever since it started. Saturday night there was a fresh blast when Ukranian Foreign Minister Manuilsky announced that his nation was asking the United Nations security council to review the situation in British-occupied Greece as a "threat to peace".

Sunday Manuilsky and his chief, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, walked out on the second anniversary Celebration of Paris's liberation. There was no explanation of this incident but it was said they might have left the ceremony because the alphabetical seating placed the United States (Amerique), Britain, France and China in the front row while the Soviet Union representatives were in the second

There is the crisis growing out of Russia's demand to share military control of the strategic Dardanelles straits with Turkey.

The Turks have rejected the proposal, and both the United States and Britain have registered their objection to the Soviet plan. This is one of the most dangerous of the disagreements.

The Moscow-backed Polish government is in high dugeon because Washington and London have charged that there were serious irregularities in the recent referendum. A Polish government spokesman in London has advised, in effect, that America and Britain mind their own business.

Britain and Russia are glowering at each other across the rich oil fields of Iran.

So it goes. Europe is covered with a rash of crises affecting relations, directly or indirectly, between Russia and the other two members of the Big Three. And there's trouble in Asia, too.

Fundamentally this critical situation revolves about the realignment of power in Europe, with Britain battling against Russian inroads into the old order of things. Moscow is bent on establishing its dominance. This isn't necessarily a prelude to another world war—but it is atomic in its potentialities.

Equality In Schools.

Editor News-Journal:

Your editorial comment on a communication of a teen-age school girl in Saturday's News-Journal is vitally interesting and deals on a subject that has concerned (and now concerns) thousands of school-age pupils who have tender feelings and personal pride.

The arrogance of self-asserted superiority over her in forced school association wounds those of equal intelligence and many times may discourage to the extent of ruining further education where the pupil lacks independence and courage to overcome her wounded pride.

It is a condition that has not been remedied. The nearest remedy to this condition I observed while in Japan a quarter of a century ago. I learned that all children were required by law to attend school, same as here. In dress each graduate was required to wear a certain uniform. This method quite overcomes the arrogance of the superiority complex of the wealthier class, placing every pupil on an equality with each other.

I was impressed with the plan, and felt it was beyond our own U. S. on a basic fundamental principle of primary education.

Let Shirley Drink Milk.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union is trying to persuade United Artists to delete a scene showing Shirley Temple drinking her first screen cocktail. We hope the WCTU succeeds. Of course, it's a long way from one cocktail to a lost week-end, but without that first drink there would be no danger of intemperance.

The WCTU's point is that if 18-year-old Shirley Temple quaffs a cocktail, other teen-age youngsters will say, "If Shirley Temple drinks, why can't I?"

It seems silly but it's true. During her childhood Shirley's influence on American children was enormous, and we doubt if it has all disappeared now that she is a grown-up married woman. United Artists will be doing parents a favor if they give Shirley a glass of milk instead of that Manhattan.—Akron Beacon-Journal.

Pearson Says Churchill Yielded To Stalin In Switching To Tito

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note—Drew Pearson, who always gets restless on vacations, last week interrupted his vacation long enough to write the following column on Marshal Tito. Pearson, incidentally, spent two years after the last war directing relief work in Yugoslavia.)

* * *

NEW YORK—When the full details of the Tehran conference are told they will show that after Josef Stalin and Winston Churchill finished dividing up the Balkans—one of the worst things FDR let them do—Stalin then sold Churchill on the trigger-happy little dictator who has just caused such a crisis between the United States and Yugoslavia.

Marshal Stalin, at that stage of the Tehran conference, was in expansive mood. He had beaten down Churchill's insistence that the second front against Hitler be staged through the Balkans and had put across an agreement instead that Russia take over Roumania and Bulgaria, with Britain getting Greece and Yugoslavia.

So at this point, Stalin gave his friend Churchill some advice. The Adriatic coast of Yugoslavia and the areas in which Britain is especially interested, he said, are Croatian, not Serb. Therefore General Mihailovitch, a Serb, was the wrong man to run Yugoslavia. Instead, Stalin offered Churchill his man Tito, a Croat.

Those are the inside facts on how Churchill happened to take on Tito, and how the United States immediately switched tons of valuable lend-lease equipment to Stalin's puppet-in-disguise.

The finishing touches to this error were applied when Churchill sent his bungling son, Randolph, together with equally bungling Brigadier Fitzroy McLean, to serve as liaison officers to Tito. They, in turn, played right into the hands of Stalin's shrewd plan to steal Yugoslavia right out from under the British.

Tito Shows His Teeth.

When Dictator Tito fired on U. S. airplanes recently it was not the first time he had shown his teeth. His first snarling display of force came toward the end of the war as relations between himself and the British began to cool.

One night Tito's headquarters were raided by a Nazi airborne division and he barely escaped. It so happened that on this particular night, young Randolph Churchill and all other Britishers left Tito's headquarters for the first time in two months.

Tito was beside himself with rage and suspicion, figured the British were out to double-cross him, and shortly thereafter flew to Bari, Italy, then headquarters for refugee Yugoslavs.

As Tito's plane landed, several hundred Yugoslavs armed with tommy guns surrounded it. No British official was allowed anywhere near their chief.

Later Tito was invited to dine with Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, commander in the Mediterranean, and arrived at the dinner with two dozen husky Yugoslav guards, who lined up with tommy guns on both sides of the dining room.

"I say, Marshal," remarked General Wilson, "isn't this a most unusual procedure?"

"This, General," replied Tito, "is a most unusual war."

Next day he flew to Bucharest, conferred with Russian officials, then returned to Yugoslavia. His co-operation with the British was absolutely dead. He was now openly working for Russia. Meanwhile the United States had poured millions in lend-lease material into Tito's hands.

Shortly after that, when British commandos landed at Split on the Yugoslav coast to try to head off the German army, Tito's men disarmed the British and sent them back to Italy.

Balkans Breed Cutthroats.

Today in Yugoslavia, Tito is anything but popular, and if it wasn't for the support of Russia he would be out on his ear. The Serbs, who formerly ran the country, don't like him, because he is a Croat and they have been put on the sidelines. The Croat people also don't particularly like him because they are strong Roman Catholics and he is a Communist. Only people who really like Tito are the Montenegrins, and their leaders adore him—for a very special reason.

The Montenegrins are the born fighters of Yugoslavia. Living in one of the rockiest countries in the world, they have nothing to do but fight—or migrate to America, which they did in large numbers before the war. Almost every third Montenegrin you met in the old days spoke a little broken English and had worked for a time in the steel mills of Pittsburgh or Youngstown.

Montenegrins make up the backbone of Tito's army and they have been trigger-happy ever since they were old enough to roll out of their wooden cradles.

This writer lived for two years near the junction of the Albanian, Serb and Montenegrin borders where the Yugoslav government at that time had great difficulty keeping its federal officials long on duty. Some were shot; others resigned before they were shot.

Usually the Yugoslav natchalnik or perfect would appeal to us to carry him across country from the railhead to his post. He knew the guerrilla fighters, unlike Tito's army today, would not fire on American trucks. At one time the local potshooting got so bad that Yugoslav officials were unpaid for several weeks because the government could not send in money without having it highjacked.

Finally I had one of our trucks bring in 9,000,000 dinars to meet the payroll. The truck, however, got stuck en route and sat for two days in the mud virtually unguarded except for an American chauffeur. It was loaded with tons of nails and dynamite with the 9,000,000 dinars sitting in a box on top.

I have often wondered what would have happened had the local warriors been as trigger-happy with that American truck as Tito's men are today with American airplanes.

American relief organizations, at that time, had poured millions into Yugoslavia. But with the millions they had sent American nurses, doctors and relief workers who lived with the people and got to know them. Some Americans even stayed on permanently with the Yugoslavs, who were at that time—and probably still are—a lovable people.

But in this war, Soviet propaganda plus the distribution of UNRRA supplies by international personnel has made it impossible for the Yugoslav people to know where the relief has come from and who are their real friends.

Note—Though Tito poses as a swaggering product of the Yugoslav mountains, real fact is that he took a doctor's degree at the University of Vienna and speaks German with a cultured Viennese accent. Most of the time Tito is play-acting, and what the United States needs in Belgrade is a representative who can outcuss him in his own language.

U. S. Still Lend-Leasing to Soviet Russia.

WASHINGTON—Reading the headlines that reflect the growing quarrel between the Soviet Union and the United States, you would never imagine that American goods are being shipped out of American ports each day for Russia. You would certainly never imagine that most of this is still going largely on credit.

It seems to me high time we looked realistically at our commercial-financial relations with the colossus in the east.

What is happening behind the political sputtering may be even more important than the angry noise out of Paris.

In this, and in a succeeding column, an effort will be made to examine our business dealings with the power that looms so large in the postwar world.

During the first three months of this year, the United States sent the Soviet Union goods to the value of $114,976,000. Here is how this total breaks down:

Lend-Lease Pipeline	$56,969,000
UNRRA	43,335,000
Private Relief	6,609,000
Paid in Cash	8,013,000

If it seems startling that the lend-lease pipeline to Russia should still be flowing a year after the end of the war, the explanation from official sources is as follows. At VJ-day, the Russians had on order in this country—much of it in process of preparation—several hundred millions of dollars worth of goods. Some of this was war material. Some of it was for the rehabilitation of devastated areas.

Much of it—maybe most of it—was made to Russian specifications and would be of little value in this country. That applies, for example, to locomotives and railway cars which are built to fit the wider-gauge railways of Russia.

To cover all this material, a temporary pipeline credit of $400,000,000 was extended to the Soviet Union. The Russians were not interested in taking such war material as machinery to make shell casings. Therefore, it appears they will get in the post-war pipeline a total of about $300,000,000 in goods.

Later figures, for April and May, show about the same thing. That is to say, roughly half the goods were paid for out of the credit, most of the balance came out of UNRRA and a small fraction was paid for in cash.

The largest dollar volume was in machinery and vehicles. Out of the $30,300,000 exported to Russia in April, $5,205,000 went for steam locomotives; $3,443,000 for machine tools; and $2,482,000 for electrical apparatus. In April, more than $8,000,000 worth of food was shipped to the USSR.

Export controls surviving from the war prevent the shipment of some things the Russians might like to have. These controls cover certain war materials, chemicals and other goods in scarce supply.

At a pace that can hardly be detected with the naked eye, negotiations between Moscow and Washington have been looking toward resolving the pipeline credit and starting afresh. What is going on now is merely a preliminary to the real negotiations.

As the latest step, the state department sent Moscow a note outlining what the state department believes should be considered in the negotiations. Presumably, Moscow will counter with what they believe should be included in the schedule. All this takes a great deal of time.

Russia has formally requested a $1,000,000,000 loan. Stalin is said to have talked about a loan of five or six billions.

The Kremlin would naturally want to include discussion of a loan in the negotiations that may some day take place.

But in the present political climate, such a loan could never be approved by congress.

During the war, the Russians were inclined to take a toplofty attitude about their peacetime purchases in this country. They accepted the estimates of the so-called experts who predicted widespread unemployment here immediately after the war. Therefore, they figured we would have to sell to them to keep our factories going. Those calculations were wrong. The Russians find themselves trying to buy in a sellers' market.

There is a sound basis for a trade that would profit both countries. What that basis is will be the subject of the column that follows.

Farmer's Diary: "The Real America."

A WIDE-AWAKE city man whom I have known for some time told me about his travels. He said that during the past two years he had made it a point to visit every state in the Union. He described his route, across whole tiers of states, zigzagging back and forth in order to avoid detours and so as not to miss any places of special interest to tourists.

"I've seen America," he said. "And my own home town looks small and kind o' cozy, and mighty good to me! Old men along the street that never left the town seem like kinfolk because they belong to this home background. I never used to notice 'em before I went away . . . so familiar that I never gave their presence a penetrating thought.

"But now, d'you know, I'd like to start out again and travel the back roads. What I saw along the highways wasn't really America. It was just commercial America, out to get all the tourist traffic will bear. But most of this country is along back roads. Most of the people live in little burgs and among the open spaces.

"I'd like to really know the people of this country, and to do that a man'd have to live among 'em for a while. . . . I've met the hotel men, the barbers and the bellhops, the guides about the dude ranches. I've seen the legislators in the state capitals, and I've visited the big city newsrooms.

"Now I'd like to know some of the lonelier livelihoods—like fishing on Cape Cod, or trapping in the Rockies. I'd like to ride range with a cowpuncher for a spell; I'd like to keep watch with a forester at his station.

"I'd like to bunk for awhile with the timber jacks, and rustle grub in a cook shack and hear the big trees fall. I'd like to farm with the Pennsylvania Dutch, and learn their ways of accomplishing peace and plenty; I'd even like to pick cotton, and trundle orange crates around, and unload big bunches of bananas off the boats.

"I'd like to still hunt for wild life, in every climate . . . from Maine woods in winter to the lagoons of Mississippi, from the Paul Bunyan country to the Florida sticks, where the snakes and the crackers are.

"This country is just full of interesting things and interesting people," he finished, "and lots more of 'em are outside the big cities than what you might think, by reading the newspapers."
